CAPITAL NOTES.

Departmental Transferences—Electric Motors to Be Used on the Beauharnois Canal.

Fatal Accident at the Railway Station —Hon. Mr. Daly Coming Out West.

(From our own Correspondent.)

OTTAWA, July 3.—Sydney Roper, compiler of the Dominion Year Book and Statistical Abstract, has been transferred from the Department of Agriculture to the Statistical branch of the Customs department, which Mr. Wallace intends to thoroughly reorganize, the chief clerkship in the branch being vacant owing to the death of James Barry.

The contract for supplying an electric plant to the Beauharnois canal, to be used in opening and shutting the lock gates, has been awarded to the Canadian General Electric Co. of Toronto. The installation will be completed in about two weeks, and the test will last a month.

The Minister of Railways and Canals has definitely decided to adopt electricity as the motive power for opening and closing the gates on the new locks at the Sault.

A frightful accident occurred at the Union station this morning. An immigrant train of twelve cars, with about 500 souls on board, arrived from Quebec, most of the passengers being destined for Manitoba and the Northwest. While the colonist sleepers were being substituted for second-class cars the immigrants were about the station and yard. Nearly all were foreigners, and did not seem to understand what train arrangements were. A French woman named Martin, carrying a boy of five, attempted to board a train in motion and was carried beyond the platform hanging on only by her hands. Her feet caught in a frog while the train was passing over a point. This dragged her from her hold; the boy rolled under the wheels and was cut in twain. The woman's leg was severed. She was taken to the hospital, where she died this afternoon.

Hon. Mr. Daly leaves for Manitoba and the Northwest on Saturday. Mr. Burgess, the deputy minister, will probably accompany him.

Sir Adolphe Caron arrived home from Europe to day. The minister, while in Paris, suffered from an attack of grip.

IMPORTANT ARREST.

A Grand Trunk Official Caught in the Act of Stealing P. O. Letters.

CHICAGO, July 3.—Post Office Inspector James E. Stuart, of Chicago, returned today from Port Huron, with a great feather in his cap. So important was the case that the thanks of the Canadian authorities have been extended to him for his hard work. He did in seven days, dressed as a tramp, what the Post Office Inspectors of Canada, the police authorities of the Grand Truuk, and thirty United States Post Office officials failed to do in two years. For that length of time at least the loss of mails upon the Grand Trunk, including the American pouches consigned to Canada, and the mail from Montreal and Toronto consigned to all the Western States, has been a source of great annoyance. At last the matter became unbearable to the Canadian Government and Postmaster-General Bissell was asked to assign Major Stuart to the case, with power to act. After working on the case for some days, Stuart became convinced that the thefts were being done in the mail car in daylight. Finally he saw Charles Ford, superintendent for the Grand Trunk, at Port Huron, ex-member of the Fort Gratiot council and ex-president of the town council, and, for years, one of the most trusted employes of the Grand Trunk, enter the car, remove the valuable letters and deftly reseal the pouches. The railway official then withdrew, locked the car and walked toward his private office. He had proceeded but two hundred yards when Stuart placed him under arrest. A crowd gathered and protested, but Stuart took his prisoner to a quiet place and discovered on Ford's person 338 letters. The official was pressed to make a statement, but all he would say was, "You have me dead to rights, so what is the use of talking?"

FROM MONTREAL.

Death of John Lovell, Canada's Veteran Publisher—Cattlemen and Shipping Agents.

MONTREAL, July 3.—(Special)—At a conference of representatives of steamship companies it was decided to refuse to grant the request of cattle shippers that they be permitted to participate in the weekly deliberations of the steamship representatives, on the ground that if cattle exporters were admitted to the companies' meetings, when rates were discussed, the door would have to be opened to grain and other exporters. The cattle shipments for the week ending July 1 totalled 4,745 head.

John Lovell, Canada's oldest printer, died in this city, on Saturday, aged 83. He was born in Ireland, and came to Canada when ten years of age. Mr. Lovell was a man of immense enterprise, as was evidenced by the numerous extensive publications which he had undertaken in connection with his brother, and subsequently on his own responsibility and at his own cost, including a Gazetteer and Directory of the Dominion, which was issued some years ago. His school publications were also numerous and important, while the works of fiction published under the auspices of himself and his sons, both in Canada and the United States—where, at one time, he had a branch office at Rouse's Point—formed a really valuable and well assorted library. At the time of his death Mr. Lovell had under contemplation the getting up of another Dominion Gazetteer of the most comprehensive description.

WINNIPEG BANK FAILURE.

Suspension of the Commercial Bank of Manitoba With Large Liabilities.

WINNIPEG, July 3.—The Commercial Bank of Manitoba has failed; the doors were closed this morning, and considerable excitement exists in consequence. It is expected the assets will equal the liabilities. Duncan MacArthur, the President and Manager, has resigned. J. M. Ross and D. F. Ferguson have been appointed to wind up the affairs. Old settlers, old H. B. officials or their widows, and old River settlers' estates are very much interested and, as a consequence, there will be much anxiety and, perhaps, not a little suffering. Of course, there are many rumors going about to-day that they will not be paid in full, notwithstanding the assurances of the President of the bank. Whether they will, or will not, will remain to be seen, as it will depend on the conditions of the bank's affairs. At all events, it is no exaggeration to say that many of the depositors are feeling nervous as to the result; the amount due depositors in the head office and branches being about $600,000. In this connection it may be added that it was learned this morning that the list of the bank's bad debts amounted to $460,000.

DROWNED IN THE RANKS.

How the Men of the "Victoria" Went Down—Perfect Discipline Maintained.

All the Men Amazed at the Orders Signalled—Wholesale Murder Charged.

LONDON, July 3.—Numerous private letters concerning the sinking of the Victoria have been received from sailors of the Mediterranean fleet. One sailor, who was on one of the smaller vessels, writes in reference to Admiral Tryon's signal: "We all stood amazed at such a signal, knowing very well that there was not room for the ships to turn, but the orders had to be obeyed. Although the vessel was sinking under him, Admiral Tryon signalled refusing the boats. May I never see such a case of wholesale murder again! We saw the men fall in at command four deep, on the forecastle till the water reached their feet. They then received orders to fall in on the quarter deck. All the time they never attempted to go near the boats. This will show you how naval discipline is ground into people The whole fleet could see the poor fellows standing in perfect order quietly drowning in their ranks."

AID FOR THE CAUSE.

Justin McCarthy's Acknowledgment of the Remittance of a Thousand Pounds.

NEW YORK, July 3.—The following acknowledgment of a remittance, dated London, June 14, has been received by Eugene Kelly, from Mr. Justin McCarthy, by the National Federation of America: "I have once again to thank you and your colleagues of the National Federation of America for the generous help to our Parliamentary move. I have just received, through the Consolidated Bank, your check for £1,000 in our aid. I cannot tell you how deeply grateful my colleagues and I feel for your sympathy and strong support."

Stocks in New York.

NEW YORK, July 3.—Affairs at the stock exchange to-day were extremely dull. The transactions reached the paltry total of 77,416 shares, of which 6,489 were unlisted. The absence of leading operators on the streets, as is usual on the eve of the national holiday, induced the traders who are bearishly inclined to hammer the list at the opening, especially as the early quotations from London showed a considerable decline from Saturday night's figures. As the day advanced, the market assumed a firmer tone, and prices improved ½ to 1½ per cent. on comparatively light offerings. Closing bids: Wells Fargo, 130; Great Northern, preferred, 108; Missouri Pacific, 32⅜; North American, 8⅝; Northern Pacific, 12½; do. preferred, 32½; North Western, 104; Oregon Navigation, 55; Oregon Improvement, 20; Pacific Mail, 18⅝; Reading, 14⅛; Southern Pacific, 27½; Texas Pacific, 6¼; Union Pacific, 24⅛; Western Union Telegraph, 82; Canadian Pacific, 75½; Central Pacific, 21¾. Bar silver, 72c. per ounce. Money on call, 3 to 20 per cent.; foreign exchange, sterling, $4.83 for sixty days, $4.85 on demand.

TACOMA, July 3.—The Papal ablegate, after having had a hearty reception both here and at Seattle, left last night for Portland.

Wait for the Knights of Pythias excursion July 15, to Seattle on Islander. 1t.

IMPERIAL PARLIAMENT.

Official Announcement of a Court Marshal Into the Loss of the "Victoria."

Financial Relations of Britain and Ireland—Contagious Disease Among Canadian Cattle.

LONDON, July 3.—In the House of Commons to-day, the Right Hon. U. Kay-Shuttleworth, Secretary of the Admiralty, stated in response to inquiries on the subject that the Admiralty had decided to convene immediately a court-martial in the matter of the loss of the battle-ship Victoria. He added that the court-martial would be held at Malta.

Replying to a question asked in the House of Commons to-day, by John Redmond, Parnellite member for East Clare, Mr. Gladstone intimated that it was the intention of the Government to appoint a joint commission to inquire into the financial relations between Great Britain and Ireland. Mr. Gladstone added that the sitting of the commission would not begin until the excitement in connection with the passage of the Home Rule bill had subsided.

Mr. Herbert Gardiner, Presdent of the Board of Agriculture, stated that a microscopic examination of the lungs of animals landed from the steamship Lake Winnipeg, from Montreal, had proved that the animals had been affected with contagious pleuro-pneumonia. The prohibition against the importation of Canadian cattle must, therefore, be maintained.

RIOTING IN PARIS.

Students Have a Warm Time With the Police —Cause of the Trouble.

PARIS, July 3.—On Saturday an affray occurred between the police and students in the Latin quarter, and for a long time matters were very lively in that historical part of the city. The affair caused the greatest kind of excitement among the students who lodge in the quarter, and they determined to lay the facts in the case before the government and obtain satisfaction for what they deemed to be the arbitrary and overbearing conduct of the police. When the Chamber of Deputies met to-day students to the number of 1,000 proceeded to the legislative building and sought to gain admission. The officials of the chamber, fearing a riotous demonstration, gave orders to close the gates to prevent their ingress. After considerable parleying, during which the students expressed themselves very freely, ten of the number were admitted to the chamber. The spokesmen of the students being accorded a hearing by the Chamber, stated the facts in the case as they appeared to them, and declared that their only object was to urge the deputies to support a motion censuring the Government, which was to be offered by M. Miller, and M. Miller submitted his motion, asking the House to censure the Government for its connection with the affair.

Intense excitement prevailed in the Latin quarter until 3:15 o'clock this morning. Students and police fought repeatedly. Fifteen policemen and many students were injured seriously. The students upset the street booths and set fire to them. M. Loze, prefect, and M. Vignie, secretary-general of police were in the district all night directing the police forces.

The immediate cause of the riots to-day was the death of M Nuger, a clerk who was injured mortally by the police in their encounter with the students on Saturday. A disorderly demonstration will be made by the students at Nuger's funeral.

CABLE NEWS.

Outbreak Against Missionaries.

LONDON, July 3.—A dispatch from Hongkong reports another fanatical outbreak against missionaries in China. The dispatch says that a mob of natives attacked two Swedish missionaries named Wickholm and Johannsen, at Ma Cheng, sixty miles from Hankow, and killed them. No further details are given, but the murders are supposed to have been due to the foreign placards that have heretofore made much trouble for the foreign missionaries residing in China.

Mr. Gladstone's Accident.

LONDON, July 3.—Mr. Gladstone slipped and fell yesterday morning while descending the staircase in the Petersham residence of Earl of Dysart, with whom he is visiting. Beyond spraining his ankle, he is not seriously hurt. The injury is not severe.

TO-DAY'S GREAT EVENT.

F. B. Pemberton and J. Campbell came over from the Fraser last night.

THE ARBITRATION.

U.S. Counsel Phelps on the Question of Jurisdiction and Subordinate Issues.

PARIS, July 3.—Hon. E. J. Phelps, counsel for the United States, continued his closing address before the Behring Sea Tribunal of Arbitration to-day. He inquired into the rights claimed by Russia in 1799 and 1821, and into the resulting protests from the United States and the treaties between the American and Russian governments. He held that neither the protests nor treaties raised any objection to Russia's exclusive trading rights on the shores of the Pacific Ocean. Proceeding to deal with the questions of jurisdiction involved in the case, Mr. Phelps contended that they were subordinate to the main question at issue. The property right of the United States in the seals and her rights to care for the animals would not depend on a decision by the tribunal favorable to her on the question of jurisdiction, though her rights would be strengthened by such a decision.

Mr. Phelps argued the term "Pacific" did not include Behring Sea in the context of the treaties or the interpretation of the treaties given by Mr. Canning, John Quincy Adams and all other diplomats until the pelagic sealing began. He sought to prove that Russia enjoyed exclusive possession of the sealing until the cession of Alaska to the United States.

THE REED ISLAND MURDER.

Magistrate Manson Explains Why He Didn't Arrest Kennedy—The Latter "Had the Drop."

The Coroner's Jury Return a Verdict of Wilful Murder—Cowardice Among the Searchers.

(Special to the COLONIST.)

NANAIMO, July 3.—Coroner Walkem returned from Comox yesterday, where he had been to hold an inquest upon the body of John O'Connor, shot at Reed island last Monday morning. The jury found a verdict of wilful murder, charging Kennedy with the crime.

The principal witnesses were Salem Hinckley and Angus Cameron. The former saw the whole affair, heard the dispute, saw O'Connor and Kennedy clinch, heard the shooting and later on heard Kennedy make light of his murderous act and threaten to do the like again.

Mike Manson, J.P., of Cortez island, came down with Dr. Walkem. Mr. Manson stated to your representative here that he had a chance to arrest Kennedy. When he first arrived at Reed island Tuesday afternoon, he did not know anything of Kennedy's whereabouts, naturally supposing that he had made good his escape. He (Manson) had not been in the cabin where the dead man lay many minutes, when Kennedy, armed with revolvers, a knife and a Winchester rifle, put in an appearance.

Kennedy covered him with the rifle and then threatened, swore and bragged for several minutes, never once losing his drop on the magistrate. Seeing that, unarmed as he was, it would be worse than useless to attempt to arrest him, Mr. Manson tried to pacify the man and make out that he considered the whole affair an accident, and that nothing could be done in the matter.

Kennedy backed out of the cabin a few minutes later and made his way to the beach, where his sloop was. At midnight he set sail, never once having given Mr. Manson an opportunity of effecting his arrest. With the exception of Andrew Halkrow, deck-hand on Manson's steamer Stella, everyone round the cabin was more or less under the influence of liquor.

The search party under Constable Anderson, which left Comox last Wednesday, did little that was any good. Some of the specials showed by their actions that they were badly scared of Kennedy, on more than one occasion, but particularly at one spot on Valdez Island. Mr. Manson pointed out to Anderson foot marks on the beach leading up into the woods, and advised him to trace them up. Anderson only landed on the beach, walked along the shingle a little way, not venturing near the bush, and then returned to the sloop.

Last night the steamer Estelle left here with Chief Stewart and Constables Anderson, McKinnon and McLeod on board. They are to continue the search, but as none of them know the coast nor the Indians, and further, none of them ever having seen Kennedy, their efforts are not likely to be very successful.

Actuated by a desire to bring Kennedy to justice as speedily as possible, Superintendent Hussey leaves by the Joan to-day for Comox and Valdez Island, where he will meet and assume command of the expedition which left Nanaimo by the Estelle, endeavoring on the way up to interest the Indians in the desperado's capture. To have held the Estelle at Nanaimo until Superintendent Hussey reached there would have been to have lost a day, hence the adoption of the course taken. The authorities are thoroughly aroused, and will leave nothing undone to secure Kennedy's capture; if, as he asserts, he will never be taken alive, then his body will be brought back. The Evans and Sontag game of defiance will not work long in British Columbia.

NEWS OF THE PROVINCE.

Vancouver Suffering for Want of Water—Commandant Booth Opens Fire.

Re-Survey By-Law Defeated by Nanaimo Ratepayers—Interesting Interior News.

(Special to the COLONIST.)

VANCOUVER.

VANCOUVER, July 3.—There is no water yet, and considerable distress is experienced in this city in consequence.

A large contingent of the Salvation Army from Victoria, Westminster and Nanaimo convened here yesterday. Very interesting exercises were held in the Imperial Opera House. Commandant Booth addressed the immense assembly. He is a small man, not very impressive, but full of religion.

WESTMINSTER.

NEW WESTMINSTER, July 3.—The loss by the burning of Rousseau's tannery on Saturday morning was $9,000; insurance, $5,000.

There is a general movement of families to the seaside, Boundary Bay, Plumper Pass and Port Moody being the most favorite resorts with the majority.

A few days ago a huge panther entered Port Haney village and carried off a calf weighing 800 pounds.

Lehman's ranch at Port Moody was sold to-day by auction and brought $1,550.

The search after Findley, who escaped from the chain gang, has been abandoned.

The members of the Orange lodges here held church parades yesterday morning and afternoon.

All the Dominion Day drunks were let off without a fine.

Frank Wagner, an insane man, was brought over from Nanaimo yesterday, and proves not to be the missing John Wagner. He will be placed in the asylum.

NANAIMO.

NANAIMO, July 3.—The City Re-Survey by-law, voted on to-day, was snowed under, there being 109 votes against to 83 for.

Arrived—Barks Detroit and Highland Light.

Sailed—Montserrat.

DUNCAN.

DUNCAN, July 3.—Dr. Alexander and P. Auchinachie visited Victoria, and Wm. J. C. Prevost, Mrs. Prevost and Miss Prevost, F. Prevost, C. H. Dickie, C. E Lee and W. C. Duncan came up from Victoria on Friday.

Dominion Day was not distinguished by any special features in this district, though many took a quiet holiday in honor of the birthday of the Dominion.

H. Croft, M.P.P., Dr. Newcombe, Ashdown Green and Mrs. Green were at the Quamichan hotel on Saturday last, and H. Moffat left for Victoria on the morning's train.

WELLINGTON.

WELLINGTON, July 2.—The annual sports at Wellington were celebrated under the most favorable conditions on Saturday. The grounds, situated on the side of Diver lake, were gaily decorated with flags, and the dancing pavilion had quite changed its appearance under the decorations it received with festoons and Chinese lanterns. The large and varied programme was carried through without a hitch, and all the races and jumping were closely contested, as the exceptionally good prizes had drawn a number of well-known racing men from Victoria, Nanaimo and elsewhere. Perhaps the most interesting exhibition of the day was the wrestling contests—one for light weights and one for heavy weights. All the contestants, eight of them, had apparently been well trained, as they all exhibited considerable science, and the many clever devices they exhibited in getting out of a "hold" elicited the applause of the large audience. Dancing in the pavilion concluded the day's entertainment, which was kept up to the music of Mr. Fisher's orchestra until the last hours of the day.

KASLO-SLOCAN.

(From the Kaslo-Slocan Examiner.)

The Kaslo Catholics propose to erect a school and hospital at a cost of between $20,000 and $30,000.

News comes of the discovery of a seven-foot ledge of galena, ten miles out of town, on the Black Fox claim, an extension of the Daisy.

Mr. Starchman sold a half interest in the Dolly claim on Spring creek to gentlemen from the East for $6000. The Dolly is just across the mountain on Jackson creek.

In Duncan country rich strikes are continually being made and prospectors are going into the district by the hundreds.

VERNON.

(From the Vernon News.)

Among the many promising claims lately recorded may be mentioned the "Spotted Horse." This is 18 inches wide, of rich ore, and was discovered by Mr. Thornberry on Boundary Creek.

On the "Elkhorn," Mr. Smith, manager for the Spokane & Great Northern Mining Co., is taking out a carload of rich rock to be shipped to St. Louis.

On the "Nonsuch" there is a shift working who have in 300 feet of a tunnel. This cross-cuts two veins about eight feet apart, one vein consists of iron pyrites carrying gold, the other is a three feet vein of galena.

On the "American Boy" there is a carload of ore ready for shipment. On this claim there is a tunnel 320 feet which taps a vein of mineral 24 inches wide of chloride and carbonate ore running from $60 to $250 to the ton.

NELSON.

(From the Tribune.)

The Minnie, a new location, shows a 4-foot vein of galena ore carrying $60 to the ton, about equally divided between gold and silver.

Another new location, the Edith Morey, shows a large body of iron pyrites and galena, a small sample from which assayed $32 in gold.

The recent discovery at the foot of Slocan lake is so promising that the finders have decided to work the claim themselves. The lowest assay gave a return of 920 ounces in silver and $40 in gold to the ton. The ore also contains copper, but no lead.

On Friday last a large body of high-grade ore was struck in the No. 1 mine, in Ainsworth district. The machinery for their concentrator is on the way in, and it has been decided to put the mill on Krao creek.

KAMLOOPS.

(From the Inland Sentinel.)

The Peerless made three trips to the Kamloops company's coal mines at North Thompson, bringing down a load of coal each time. The coal brought down is bituminous, of excellent quality, and makes the best of coke.

An extraordinary natural phenomenon in the form of a foal with eight legs, was foaled on Mr. Edwards' farm, North Thompson, about ten days since. The filly is very handsome and well-shaped, the superfluous feet and hoofs protruding from the four fetlock joints inside. Though smaller than the perfect hoof, they are of equal size and shape and very symmetrical. There are, moreover, separate leg bones traceable beneath the skin.

GOLDEN.

(From the Golden Era.)

Archie McMurdo and George Stark came back from the International and other claims last week. The snow is going very fast, and shortly the entire country will be open. The trail from Carbonate Landing to the Middle Fork extremity is in first-class order.

Dave Dickie and partner came in from the Duncan river country, last Saturday. They brought some good samples of galena and quartz.

REVELSTOKE.

(From the Kootenay Star.)

Clearing the right of way for the Revelstoke & Arrow Lake railway will commence next week.

Jack Stauber has bonded the Silver Queen, on the Great Northern ledge, to Mr. Cassel, for $20,000, 10 per cent. paid down.

Road Supt. Thompson is locating a new trail from Harrison's up the west side of Lardeau creek.

Fruit and vegetables are very backward, although the prevailing rain has been most favorable to the growth of weeds. Clover and timothy are two and three feet high on an average. Potatoes are looking well, but a kind of black rot has attacked the stalk just below the soil, causing it to drop off at the least touch. Cabbages which have escaped the grubs are healthy, while turnips, tomatoes, beans, peas, carrots and onions are all vigorous, but a month behind. Small fruits will be heavy crops.

STILL HARD AT WORK.

The Court of Revision Devotes Its Attention to Messrs. Lowenberg, Harris & Co.'s Appeals.

Douglas Estate Valuations Cut Down About Fifty Thousand Dollars —Another Session Thursday.

The appeals of Messrs. Lowenberg, Harris & Co., and the numerous property owners for whom this firm are agents, received attention at the hands of Mayor Beaven and Aldermen Belyea, Styles and Baker, sitting as a Court of Revision yesterday.

Lots 15, 19, 20 and 21, of five acre lot 19, owned by Hon. H. P. P. Crease, were reduced to $360 each, and block 25, Fairfield estate, to $3,250 per acre. Parts of blocks 6 and 7, Spring Ridge, the property also of Mr. Justice Crease, were brought down to $3 250 per acre.

Hon. M. W. T. Drake's portion of section 68, including 12 67-100 acres, was reduced to $600 per acre. Lots 7, 9 and 11, block E, Work estate, Mr. Justice Drake owner, were reduced to $600, $600 and $650 respectively, and the improvements on half acre, block G, Work estate, were cut down to $1,000.

Block 77, Fairfield estate, owned by Mr. W. F. Bullen, was reduced to $800 per acre.

For the Hudson's Bay Co.: Part of 17, block 70, Fort property, stands as assessed, $6,000, and lot 18, same block, also as assessed, $146 250. The improvements on lot 18 are reduced to $22 500. Lots 1, 2, 3 and 4, block 72, Fort property, remain unchanged, $15,400; lots 13, 14, 15 and 16, as assessed, $7,350 each; and lots 9, 10, 11 and 12, aggregating $11,500. Lot 3, block 73, is reduced to $6,000 from $6,440; lot 4, of the same block, stands as assessed, $3,825. The assessment on lots 1, 2, 3 and 13, block 94, stands unchanged, at $15,700. The improvements on lot 2 are reduced to $100. Lot 10, block 75, is ordered to be assessed to Charles Hayward, and lots 20 and 21, block 77, stand at $8,400 for the two.

The improvements on S. Anderson's lot, 244, were reduced to $400, and lot F, sec. 74, H. P. Bell owner, was reduced to $2,000 from $2,400.

Sir M. B Begbie's lots, 1,150-1, were reduced to $700 each; lots 1,676-9 reduced to $700 each from $750, and lots 1,682 5 to $700 each, also from $750.

Thomas Carrington's appeal was withdrawn.

The assessment upon lot 633, block L, standing in the name of the Coteford estate, was reduced to $1,500 from $1,800. J. J. Cowley's half of 61, block 14, was ordered to stand as assessed, at $1,600, the improvements being reduced to $400 from $500. Lot 800, block 10, same owner, was brought from $1,300 to $1,000.

The "Five Sisters'" block, Government and Fort streets, was ordered to remain as assessed, $105,000 for the land and $35,000 for improvements, there being no appeal upon the latter.

E. J. Dodd's appeal from the assessment on improvements to his Douglas street property, 672 and 673, was allowed, the reduction being to $100.

John Dooley's lots, 3, 4 and 5, block 21, Spring Ridge, were ordered to stand as assessed, at $2,200, and lot 21, block 73, Spring Ridge, also at the assessor's figures, $500.

The Douglas estate, part of 168a, was ordered to stand at $8,400; lot 1,296 at $1,500, and lot part of 1,270, reduced to $1,000 from $2,000. Subdivisions of lot 1,694, assessed at $6,650, were reduced to $4,900.

Lots 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11 and 12, were assessed at $1,400 each, and Mr. Northcott asked that this valuation be raised, as other valuators had decided the lots directly opposite to be worth $70 per foot, and this sum would be paid by the Government.

Mr. Harris withdrew the appeal, and the assessment was ordered to stand at the original figures.

Six acres of section 6, assessed at $4,500 per acre, were reduced to $4,000 per acre; section 1 A, Fairfield, assessed at $19.500 for the 42 lots, was reduced to $13,200, in consideration of the fact that the land cannot be drained. The court then adjourned until Thursday.

MARINE MOVEMENTS.

The Thermopylae Makes Another of Her Fast Passages—News from Victoria Sealers.

Californian and Northern Coast Steamers Continue Busy—Gossip of the Wharves.

The well known bark Thermopylæ, Capt. Winchester, returned home yesterday morning, having been towed in from beyond the Cape by the tug Richard Holyoke, where she was becalmed for fourteen days. Notwithstanding this delay, she made the passage from Hongkong in forty-five days, only ten days of this time having been occupied in making the run north as far as Yokohama. Until the meridian was passed Capt. Winchester says he experienced very strong and cold southeast gales, but from that point on to Victoria the weather was much finer. The bark brings 1,150 tons of paddy for the Victoria Rice Mills Co., 400 tons of which she discharges immediately at the outer wharf, the remainder to be landed on the company's own wharf in the city.

OFF FOR THE NORTH.

The two northern steamers, the Princess Louise and Barbara Boscowitz, departed for Skeena river last evening, carrying good freights. Among the passengers on the Princess Louise were: G. A. Kirke, G. Fountain, W. Williscroft, J. Piercey, Mrs. Clifford, Miss Martin, D. Irving, W. Dawson and Mrs. R. Hampton, while those who took passage on the opposition steamer were Miss Ross, F. Sylvester, D. H. McEachern, W. D. Morgan and Rev. R. B. Beavis. The last named gentleman is on his way to Bella Bella, where he succeeds Rev. Mr. Hopkins in the Methodist missionary work. It is probable when the steamers return they will bring the first of this year's catch of salmon.

MOVEMENTS OF COAST STEAMERS.

The steamship Umatilla, which arrived from San Francisco on Sunday morning, brought for Victoria 170 tons of freight and twenty-eight passengers, eighteen of whom were cabin. She also had on board several passengers who are on their way to Alaska, and who leave by the City of Topeka, calling this evening. The Walla Walla, on the same route, left for San Francisco yesterday with the following passengers from Victoria: Byron Manzy and wife, Miss Nellie Gibbrens, Miss S. Bailey, Miss Ida Gales, Miss Molloy, Mrs. Dannville and child, Miss S. Hart, Miss C. Hart, C. F. Gompertz, E. T. King, Miss Stroth, Miss F. Stroth and Miss M. Forrester.

SEALERS IN JAPANESE WATERS.

A letter from Capt. Byers, of the sealing schooner Carlotta G. Cox, reached here Sunday, and contains the following information about sealers now on the Japan Coast: The W. P. Hall had 437 skins on May 25; Penelope, 1,300 on May 18; Annie C. Moore, 450, May 15; Mattie T Dyer, 800, May 28; May Belle, 1,651, May 30; Geneva, 1,100, May 30; the Cox, June 2 (the day the letter was written) 1,905; and the Casco, June 2, 1,200. The last named sailed for the sealing grounds from Hakodate the same day.

MARINE NOTES.

The American tug Richard Holyoke was in port for a short time yesterday, having towed the barks Thermopylæ and Mount Washington into Royal Roads. The latter vessel is in ballast, and being destined for Port Townsend, the tug took her in tow again across to the Sound.

Tug Lorne returned from the Cape yesterday morning, having towed the ship Ecclefechan, grain laden, for Falmouth from Tacoma, to sea. On Saturday last she towed the ship Glory of the Seas to Nanaimo, to load coal for San Francisco.

The steamer City of Kingston, which made a special trip to Victoria yesterday, carried away a large number of passengers last evening, the majority of whom will remain in Uncle Sam's domain for a few days after the celebration.

Tug Mystery tows the four-masted schooner Carrier Dove up to Cowichan, this morning, where she loads lumber. Afterwards the Mystery returns to Victoria, and will leave this evening with supplies for the store at Clayoquot.

Steamer Maude left for Barclay Sound last evening, carrying as passengers Mrs. and Miss Fox and Mr. Derrick.

The steamer Premier this morning replaces the Islander on the Vancouver-Victoria run.

Steamer Burt went over to Roche Harbor on Sunday for farm produce.

The Cariboo and Fly sails for the North on Thursday.

Sir Charles Dilke and Others on the Disaster—Dispatches From the Mediterranean.

Why Did Admiral Tryon Issue That Order?—How the Collision Occurred.

LONDON, July 3.—Sir Charles Dilke, one of England's most eminent lay authorities on naval and military matters, was interviewed to-day concerning the reports that Admiral Tryon was suffering from temporary mental derangement when he conducted the manœuvres off Tripoli. Sir Charles said: "While the Foreign Office has a great deal to say on this subject I must confess that Admiral Tryon never gave me the idea that he had any mental weakness whatever. One of the Lord's of the Admiralty said that a better sailor than Admiral Tryon never trod a ship's deck. The blunder simply passes comprehension. Had the deceased Admiral lived he must have been adjudged guilty according to the present evidence, and unless the Crown used its prerogative would have been shot."

Major-General Walter Goldsworthy said, this afternoon: "Admiral Tryon served with me in Abyssinia. He was a tireless and clear-headed worker. I never heard of any mental deviation or want of precision on his part. His fatal error in judgment must have arisen from illness."

A midshipman from the Mediterranean squadron arrived here yesterday morning, bearing dispatches concerning the Victoria-Camperdown collision. He went directly to the Admiralty Office, where the admiralty board awaited his coming. After reading the dispatches, they decided to publish them in full forthwith. The first dispatch dates from the "Camperdown, June 22," and was from Rear Admiral Markham. After reporting the loss of the ship, involving the loss of Vice-Admiral Sir George Tryon, twenty-two officers and 336 men, he recites the circumstances of the squadron's formation just before the accident, and continuing says:

"When about five miles from anchorage, off Tripoli, the signal was made to form columns of division in line ahead, the starboard abeam to the port columns, to be six cable lengths apart. We proceeded in this formation until the signal was made from the Victoria for the first division to turn sixteen points to port and the second sixteen points to the starboard. As the columns were only six cable lengths apart, it was not, in my opinion, possible to execute the evolution. I directed the flag lieutenant to signal that the order was not understood. I ordered a counter signal, asking instructions, but before it could be carried out the commander-in-chief signaled to know what I was waiting for. Having the fullest confidence in the great ability of the commander to manœuvre the fleet, I ordered the signal hoisted that I understood. The helm of the Camperdown was put hard aport, and at the same time the Victoria starboarded.

"I watched very carefully the movement of the Victoria, as indicating the purpose of her signal. As the two ships turned toward each other, and seeing the helm of the Victoria still starboarded, I directed the captain of the Camperdown to go full speed astern with the starboard screw, in order to decrease the circle of turning. Seeing that a collision was inevitable, I then ordered him to go full speed astern, but before her headway was materially checked the Camperdown struck the Victoria and crushed into the ship almost to the centre. It was, I think, quite two minutes before the Camperdown, although going at full speed astern, was able to get clear of the Victoria. Seeing the critical condition of the Victoria, the boats were immediately prepared, when the signal was hoisted by the Victoria not to send the boats. A very few minutes later she keeled over to starboard and, turning bottom upwards, disappeared.

Admiral Markham then recites the efforts made to rescue the men, and states that nothing of importance was recovered from the Victoria. The injuries to the Camperdown were serious, but he hoped they could be temporarily repaired so that she might be sent to Malta. He closes with the expression of deep grief and sorrow among the Mediterranean squadron. He says it was a lamentable catastrophe, and pays a high tribute to the ability and personal character of Sir George Tryon.

Hon. Maurice Bourke, captain of the Victoria, in his report says, after a technical recitation of his orders: "I directed a midshipman to observe closely the distance of the Camperdown. I reported to the commander that it was too close and asked permission to reverse the port screw. This was done, and just before the collision both engines were going full speed astern. When the collision was seen to be inevitable orders were given to close the water-tight compartments. I asked if everything was tight, and was answered with 'Yes,' but by whom I could not say."

Staff Commander Hawkins Smith and Lieut. Heath, of the Victoria, also made reports, which were purely technical. Lord Gillford, flag lieutenant of the Victoria, in his report says, after reciting the details of the collision: "I reported to Admiral Markham the lowering of the boats. He thereupon made a general signal to send no boats. After the collision the Staff Commander reported to the Admiral that they were in seventy or eighty fathoms of water, and the helm was then starboarded and both engines went half speed ahead. A minute afterwards the steering gear broke, the quartermaster reporting that he was unable to move the wheel."

The Admiral ordered Guilford below to see if the ship was taking water aft, and while carrying out this order the vessel sunk.

DOMINION DAY IN LONDON.

Speech by the New Governor-General, Lord Aberdeen—Tribute to Lord Derby.

LONDON, July 3.—The Dominion Day dinner in London, at Westminster, on Saturday night, was a distinct success. Sir Charles Tupper presided, and the company, which numbered nearly 100, included Lord Aberdeen, the Marquis of Ripon, Lord Brassey, Lord Cobham, Hon. Col. Baker, of British Columbia, Mr. Dalton McCarthy and Senator Dickey.

The feature of the evening was Lord Aberdeen's speech in response to the toast, "Governors-General of Canada, past and present." This was his first public utterance since his acceptance of the post. In a brief address, brightened by many humorous touches, Lord Aberdeen said his predecessors had gone to Canada with high reputations and left it with still higher fame, the inference being that Canadians extend a generous recognition to all who decide to serve them. He declared it was a well-recognized fact that the Governor-General holds himself absolutely aloof from anything taking the direction of political predilection. Only in this way could the representative of the sovereign fully occupy the important and responsible position assigned him, although obviously any person selected by the Imperial ministers must, to some extent, have been associated with one or the other of the two great parliamentary parties. With a good deal of humor Lord Aberdeen illustrated the wisdom of public men abstaining from taking any notice of erroneous statements regarding themselves which might obtain currency. He urged that it was wise to leave it to time to demonstrate their truth or otherwise.

Lord Ripon responded to the toast of the Colonial Secretary, and paid a high tribute to Lord Derby's work in Canada, and predicted that Lord Aberdeen would find abundant opportunity to promote the great end of binding the colonies and the mother country more closely together.

THE BOUNDARY COMMISSION

Captain Nickerson Writes as to the Progress of the Work in the Northern Wilderness.

Climbing Rugged Mountains Only to Be Baffled by the Presence of Cloud.

Captain Alonz Nickerson, master of the the steamer Thistle, which is this summer engaged as tender to the Canadian Boundary Commission party in the North, writes as follows to the COLONIST from Fort Wrangle, under date of June 26:—

"Leaving Victoria at 8 a.m. on May 25, we called at Comox and took on coals, arriving at Fort Simpson on the 31st without any special incident worth mentioning. June 1 at 4 a.m. we left Simpson, and at 7 p.m. the same day arrived at Burroughs Bay, at the head of Behrings Canal, Alaska, where we took on board Professor O. J. Klotz, who has charge of the International Boundary Survey expedition for the Canadian Government. At 5 a.m. we got up steam and proceeded to Fort Wrangle, passed through Behrings Canal and Clarence Straits at 6 p.m. on the 6th and reached Wrangle, which is a small place of 200 inhabitants, has three stores, a sawmill, two churches and a cannery. A steamer runs from there up the Stickeen to Gentrance, five miles distant.

"Here we waited for the mail, which arrived on the 9th, and on the 10th got steam up and proceeded to Wrangle straits, where we were joined by the U. S. steamer Hassler, which is acting as tender to the officers stationed at the different astronomical stations. Commander Ackley came on board the Thistle and piloted us through the straits, it being a very difficult and intricate part of navigation for a stranger. Proceeding North we visited the various survey parties in Endicot Arm and Holcom Bay, where we saw the Sumdum glacier—a fine sight indeed. From there we passed to Whitting river, to Swettisham inlet, where we left our party.

"On the 13th we steamed up Taku inlet to the astronomical station at the head, near the mouth of Taku river, in latitude 58° 25' North. In this inlet are the Windom and Foster glaciers, the latter of which is constantly sending down icebergs to the sea weighing from ten tons to ten thousand, numbers of which cover the surface of the water, mostly afloat, but many of them aground in ten fathoms of water. We had to pick our way carefully amongst them to reach the anchorage. Every five minutes the hills around would re-echo with a noise like distant thunder, as a huge berg would break from the glacier and drop into the sea.

"From there we proceeded to Juneau, a town of six or seven hundred, principally supported by the fur trade and mining operations, the Treadwell mines, at Douglas island, being right opposite the town. Here we met Mr. Ogilvie, the chief of the most northern party. From Juneau we returned to Fort Wrangle.

"I may here say that we have met with every kindness and courtesy from the customs officers and also officers on board or connected with all of the U. S. steamers since our arrival in Alaskan waters.

"We are now on our way North on our second trip, and have so far steamed about 1,600 miles of coast line, visiting all the survey parties established on the coast, as well as all the minor inlets and bays, doing work in connection with the expedition. There is one party on the Unak river, and there are two on the Stickeen, which can only be reached by canoes. All of the men connected with the expedition have unenviable and arduous duties to perform. They are continually climbing rugged and snow-clad mountains from 3,000 to 6,000 feet high, meeting with the snow line 2,000 feet above the sea, and from there having to walk over immense banks of snow, sometimes sinking knee deep, and sometimes having to climb over two or three smaller mountains to get to the highest ones, from which their observations and measurements are taken. It often happens, too, that when they get to the top they find a cloud hanging there which prevents them from making observations, and there is nothing for it but either to remain there all night or return to camp. They often leave camp at 3 o'clock in the morning and do not get back until 10 or 11 at night (it being light during that time in these latitudes during summer) wet from head to foot.

"When they are fortunate enough to find it clear and unclouded at the top, they behold a very desolate and wild picture—as far as the eye can reach nothing but an apparent frozen sea, composed of snowy mountains, sterile, cold and rugged.

"Since we have been here, the weather has been everything that could be desired, very little wind and very little rain, with considerable sunshine for this region, but there are very few days that the mountains are clear at the top, so that the work of the expedition has had many interruptions.

"The Alaska Trading and Fishing company practically run this country. They have thirty canneries, but are only working about seven or ten of them, blocking out all outsiders. No one is allowed to sell a red salmon, and the sawmills cannot sell a foot of lumber except by permission of the company. Whiskey is prohibited by the company, but the Internal Revenue Department of the United States grants a license to sell, consequently it is smuggled into the country in large quantities, twenty-six traders being in the town of Juneau alone, with 600 inhabitants. But I believe the licenses expire on July 1, and it is thought that they will not be renewed.

"The country abounds in fish, a cannery at Loring expecting to put up 26,000 cases this season alone, all to be caught in a trap only two miles from the cannery. There is an abundance of halibut, too, in every bay and cove on the coast, we never having failed to catch a halibut at every place we anchored. Yesterday in steaming through Eamet Sound we saw a deer swim towards the vessel and put out a boat and captured him alive. The country also abounds with game, black and cinnamon bears being common pets at Juneau."

7 Mares (in foal to a good stallion), 1 Horse, Pigs, Chickens, etc.

Ploughs, Harrows, Reaper, Fanning Mill, Wagon, Sleds and usual Farm Implements.

Double Harness, Chain Harness, Bull Chains, Saddles (ladies' and gent's), Bridles, etc.

Blacksmiths' Bellows, Anvil and Tools and Carpenters' Tools.

9-Room House (shingle roofed; Stable for 10 horses, with hay loft above; Stone Roothouse, Store Buildings, Dairy, Cow Sheds, etc., etc.

4 Miles (about) Standing Fences, in good order; Corralls, 10 miles barbed wire and staples; about 2,500 Posts on the ground, ready for use, etc., etc.

Small Lot Household Furniture, Stove and Pipes, Cooking Utensils, Crockery, etc., etc.

This Property is within easy distance of many of the most important Gold, Silver and Coal Mines in West Kootenay. The population of this district will increase this year by at least 10,000; the area of farm land is very limited, and from this it may be fairly as erted that beef and all classes of farm produce will find a ready and lucrative market. The soil is the best bottom land, and the locality is one of the few places in the Province where so large a piece of good farm land can be found in one block. A river runs through the property, and rainbow trout are plentiful and afford capital sport. Deer abound in considerable numbers. Bear, Wolf, Coyote and other large game are to be found in the hills. There are two creeks recorded and belonging to the estate, one flows all the year round. Limestone and brick clay are to be had in the valley.

The Cattle are well bred; a much larger herd could be farmed with the place. The bunch grass on the hills in the vicinity covers many thousands of acres, and is available to the few land owners in the valleys. All buildings and fences about the farm are in good order, and farming operations can be gone on with at once; about 180 acres of ploughing have been, so far, provided for this year's work.

The Climate is not severe, the land being about 1,100 feet above sea level; the station was for many years the winter quarters of the H. B. Co.'s pack trains. There is a weekly express in and out. Goods and supplies at wholesale can be procured on order and delivered in 48 hours.

The Title is by grant from the Crown, and is free of all encumbrances. Immediate possession can be given.

Important Railway works are now in progress within moderate distance, and two railway lines have been run to pass close to or through the estate, which can be reached in the spring in three days' journey from Victoria.

The South West Kootenay District, British Columbia, judging from the actual ore products of the mines this winter, is destined in the next year or two to become one of the richest and most important mineral centres in the world. Statistics show, that although the district is in its primary stage, the mines have developed ore veins rich enough to warrant the investment of over a million dollars. When these mines come to be worked systematically, there will be an Influx of Population, which will require beef and farm produce in large quantities. The limited quantity of really good farm land in the district to supply these requirements makes this

THE EXTRA SESSION.

The President of the United States has convened Congress at an earlier day than was expected. He had intimated a short time ago that Congress would be called to meet some day in September. He had, by assurances that the Government would meet its demands in gold, allayed the fears of the commercial men of the United States, and, no doubt, averted a panic But he found that in spite of all his efforts, confidence was not re-established. Difficulties and embarrassments were becoming more numerous and more serious, so as a last resort he has called the representatives of the people together to take such measures as in their wisdom they may deem fit to restore confidence and avert disaster.

The wording of the proclamation sounds somewhat discordantly in British ears. It is not usual for the Head of the Executive, either in Great Britain or in a British dependency, to cast reflections on the laws or the executive acts of a previous administration. However much that administration may have been to blame, a dignified reticence as to its errors and shortcomings is observed in all the utterances of the sovereign or the sovereign's representative. But we find President Cleveland condemning, in the plainest terms, in a state document of the greatest importance, both the legislative and the executive acts of a previous administration. He says, in the preamble to the proclamation, that his reason for issuing it is because "the present perilous condition is largely the result of the financial policy which the executive branch of the Government finds embodied in unwise laws which must be executed until repealed by Congress." It strikes us forcibly that it would be impossible to find in a British state document a statement having the most distant resemblance to the one we have quoted. It, in fact, reads more like an election card than a proclamation issued by the first magistrate of a powerful nation. The wording of the proclamation may be a matter of taste, but we must say that British reticence on such occasions seems to us in every way preferable to American outspokenness.

There can, we think, be no question as to the necessity of the proclamation. The situation in the United States is critical. There is evidently danger ahead, and not far ahead. The President has gone as far as his powers permit to prevent the disaster which almost every one sees imminent. It is his opinion, as well as the opinion of many of the most intelligent and far-seeing men in the United States, that Congress alone can find a remedy for the evils that are apprehended. He has therefore called a meeting of Congress at almost the earliest day possible.

The law which the President stigmatizes as "unwise" is no doubt the Sherman law That law requires the Government to purchase every month a large quantity of silver bullion. This bullion is kept by the Government idle, and the paper issued against it must be paid in gold, or, it is believed, commercial disorder will ensue. What the American bankers and many others want is the repeal of this law. They say if the Government stops buying silver confidence will be restored, gold will ac- [illegible] te in the treasury, and there will be [illegible] of flooding the country with sil- [illegible] dy greatly depreciated and is no danger [illegible] further depreciation. [illegible] ress President Cleve- [illegible] ll responsibility in [illegible] n of Congress By convening Cong- land divests himself of a the matter. It is the functi[illegible] to repeal laws. The President cannot do this, neither can he, without special power from Congress, suspend their operation. When Congress meets the whole responsibility of the continuation of the Sherman law will rest upon it.

It is just possible that a majority of that body will not see the matter in the same light as the President does. Those who compose it may believe that the bankers and capitalists and public creditors are needlessly alarmed, or that they clamor for the repeal of the Sherman law from selfish motives. They may be convinced that the apprehensions of these people are groundless, and that the good of the State requires that the Sherman law be continued in operation. If Congress comes to this conclusion, the President will, like the rest of the citizens of the United States, have to bow to its decision and to abide by the result, whatever it may be. The belief, however, is pretty general that Congress will repeal the silver law. The matter has been thoroughly discussed by the American press, and the members both of the House of Representatives and the Senate have been canvassed. Some members have freely declared their intention to vote one way or the other. Some have expressed themselves doubtful as to the course they shall take, while a majority have given no answer to the questions put to them.

The publication of the proclamation has been followed by good results. People are more hopeful, and confidence is to a certain degree restored.

A TARIFF REFORM SCHEME.

Mr. Edward Atkinson, the well-known American publicist and statistician, has published a scheme of tariff reform, which will enable the American Legislature to lower the tariff materially in some directions, and at the same time raise revenue enough to carry on the business of the country. Mr. Atkinson's ideal is evidently free trade as it has been established in Great Britain. It will take some years for his reforms to make the United States tariff as short and as simple as that of Great Britain, but he hopes by paring and pruning processes, applied in different directions, to arrive at that result in a comparatively short time—that is, if the American people will allow him.

He calculates that he can raise $195,000,000 from taxes and duties on spirits, beer, wines and tobacco. He expects, in 1894, that he can obtain $98,000,000 by an excise tax on spirits, $35,000,000 on beer at the present rate, and $35,000,000 on tobacco. Then on imported spirits, beer and wines, he will get $12,000,000, and on imported tobacco $15,000,000. These imposts on strong drink and tobacco, he shows, will be sufficient to pay the expense of the civil service, the army, the navy, and the Indian department, and have some twenty-six millions to the good. One may get a pretty fair idea of the quantity of beer consumed in the United States when he learns that, according to Mr. Atkinson's calculation, at the present rate of consumption, a tax of four-tenths of a cent on every half pint of beer drank would "make it feasible to put about one half of all the articles named in the present tariff into the free list." But he does not contemplate this change; he just wants to show the world what a tax of less than half a cent on every tumbler of beer would produce.

Mr. Atkinson would place a large number of articles on the free list, among which are wool, ores, scrap-iron, coal, stoneware, lumber, paints, colors, oils. The duties he would thus cut off amount, under the present tariff, to $26,812,601. After making this large reduction, according to Mr. Atkinson's scheme, "the revenue from dutiable articles will then suffice at present rates to meet the maximum pension roll. The present rates of duty may then be reduced in order to increase the revenue, and this increase will constitute a surplus."

From this we see it is proposed that the present rates of duty be levied on the great bulk of the imports of the United States, and that increased duties on spirits, beer and tobacco will make up for what is taken off articles of food and the raw materials of manufacture.

Of course all this is theoretical. Mr. Atkinson's scheme of tariff reform may or may not foreshadow the changes which the Democrats will, to fulfil their election promises, make when Congress meets in regular session. But it shows the American people that tariff reform, even that proposed by an ardent free trader, is very far from being free trade.

THE REASON WHY.

There are some who find it difficult to understand why so many Americans are eager for the repeal of the Sherman law. The United States Government, they say, is rich, if its gold is getting scarce it has tons upon tons of silver in its vaults. What objection can there be to redeeming the Treasury notes with silver? This is exactly where the difficulty lies. The people do not want the silver. The silver dollar is not worth one hundred cents, or anything like it, and the creditor who gets paid in silver dollars does not get nearly as much as is his due. If silver dollars worth seventy cents are allowed to take the place of gold dollars worth one hundred cents, no one will be foolish enough to pay his debts in gold unless he is specially bound by contract to do so, and, consequently, gold will disappear almost altogether from circulation. The only money left will be of silver and paper. This change, it is said, would be attended by wide-spread commercial disaster. Thousands would be ruined, and commerce in the United States would have to be built up anew on another basis. It is the fear of this change and its attendant consequences that is causing restlessness and distrust in the United States, and the the apprehension that it may soon be brought about is what makes so many of our neighbors nervous when they see the Government's gold reserve diminishing. It is more than likely that the danger is greatly magnified by timid capitalists and business men, but timidity and distrust, when they become general, even when there are not good grounds for them, create any amount of trouble in the commercial world.

"NATIONAL ASPIRATIONS."

The Times seems to think it strange that any Canadian should be proud of being a British subject, or that he should hope to see the day when a native Canadian would consider that he owes the British Empire as loyal and as fervid an allegiance as a native of the State of Maine owes the United States. According to our contemporary the greater does not include the less. Scotchmen love Scotland and are proud of "the land of brown heath and shaggy wood;" their love of country and pride of race are, in fact, proverbial, yet the Scotchman, intensely Scotch as he is, knows that the interests of the nation are paramount. He does not think and believe that Scotland must be first and the Empire afterwards; and if Lord Rosebery or the Duke of Argyle, or any Scotch statesman, expressed himself as Mr. Laurier did the other day, at the Ottawa convention, he would be scouted and ridiculed by every intelligent and patriotic Scotchman in the Three Kingdoms.

Is it not possible that Canada may bear something like the same relation to the Empire that Scotland does, and that the Canadian's loyalty shall be of the same nature and quality as the Scotchman's? The Scotchman's love of Scotland never stands in the way of his duty as a British subject, neither should a Canadian's love of Canada prevent his being as loyal to the British Crown as any native of England, Scotland, Wales or Ireland.

We readily admit that the British citizenship of the Canadian is not so complete as that of the Scotchman, but it should be the object of every intelligent and loyal Canadian to make it so. The difference is not so great as some Canadians imagine. The people of Great Britain are the fellow citizens of Canadians as well as their kindred, and the difference between the British subject in Canada and the British subject in Great Britain is becoming less and less as time advances; we trust that the day in which their identity of citizenship will be complete, is not far off.

Our contemporary believes that we are in some way to blame for not sympathising with the aspirations of those who sigh for Canadian independence. We believe that Canadian independence is not feasible and not desirable, if feasible. For our part we would far rather be a citizen of the Empire of Great Britain than the citizen of a puny Canadian Republic, which held its independence on the sufferance of the United States. The last person who has declared that independence for Canada is but another name for annexation, is Mr. Edward Farrer, who, not long ago, was the oracle of the Liberal party in Canada. And he is doubtless right, and those Canadians who are trying to work up enthusiasm for Canadian independence, are either the dupes of schemers like Farrer, or men who are much more ready to be carried away by sentiment than they are to be convinced by sound argument.

THE CITY.

THE Divisional court was to have sat yesterday, but owing to other business was adjourned.

THE meeting of the Law Society, which was to have been held yesterday, was adourned until Monday next.

MR. EDWARD ARROWSMITH closed his series of special services with largely attended meetings at Institute hall, Sunday.

THE case of D. Adams, recently fined in the Police court for refusing to pay revenue tax upon his Chinese employes, is to be appealed at once.

ST JOHN'S CHURCH has not yet been received into the Anglican Synod, the notice in the matter having been given too late to allow of the subject being dealt with at the recent meeting of the Synod.

BY KIND permission of Mr. R. J. Russell, a strawberry festival in aid of the new schoolroom of St. Saviour's, Victoria West, will be held in the grounds of Springfield House, Robert street, on Wednesday, July 12, afternoon and evening.

ON and after yesterday the postage rate to Newfoundland is reduced to three cents per ounce. Newspapers from the offices of publication in Canada addressed to subscribers in Newfoundland will enjoy the same exemption from postage as if addressed to subscribers in Canada.

THE Sons of Erin picnic on the Caledonia grounds on Saturday was not the financial success anticipated, and it became a question for a while whether the receipts would be sufficient to pay all expenses. However, satisfactory arrangements in this respect have been made and there will be no loss.

THE Full court will sit on Monday next to hear a number of appeals which are down on the calendar. The list includes Adams v. McBeath, the appeal from Mr. Justice Crease's decision in the celebrated will case, but argument will probably be postponed owing to the absence of the Attorney-General.

MRS. WILLIAM'S was yesterday morning charged in the Police court with having pointed a revolver at W. T. Hardaker; and W. T. Hardaker was charged with having assaulted the aforementioned Mrs. Williams. The latter's lawyer was not in attendance, and the case was accordingly laid over until to-day.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the First Presbyterian church will give a strawberry festival in the lecture room next Wednesday evening, which is the anniversary of the induction of their present pastor, Dr. Campbell. A good programme, short speeches, and abundance of strawberries and cream will be the order of the evening.

THE ladies of the Centennial Methodist church have arranged to give a strawberry and cream social on Wednesday evening of this week, and promise in connection therewith an entertainment of unusual excellence. A good programme has already been arranged for. Some of the best local talent will assist, and the event promises to be a great success.

AT St. Barnabas church last evening Mr. Herbert Stanton, registrar of Nanaimo district, was married to Miss Agnes Jamieson, of this city, the ceremony being performed by Rev. G. W. Taylor. The wedding was a quiet one, only a very few intimate friends being present. Mr. and Mrs. Stanton leave by the Joan this morning for Nanaimo, followed by the best wishes of many friends.

IN THE Provincial court yesterday afternoon, before Farquhar Macrae, S.M., Joseph Baptiste, of Sooke, was charged with assault, and the complainant asked that he be bound over to keep the peace. The assault charge was not proceeded with, the prisoner being bound over in two sureties of $125 each and himself in $250. S. Perry Mills prosecuted; Lindley Crease for the defence.

THE best suggestion for a day's outing, or even a few hour's run, is the excursion today to Port Angeles. A magnificent steam ferry to the nearest American port, going and coming a number of times a day, is a capital idea, and will in a very short time not be a matter of simply an excursion on the 4th of July, but a regular every-day occurrence. Everyone should patronize the trip to-day; if not able to go over on the 8 o'clock boat through press of business, take the 1:30 ferry, returning at 5 o'clock or 6 o'clock.

AT THE VICTORIA, to-night, there will be a bewildering mixture of feminine beauty, tasteful toilettes and superb settings, when Maude Granger and her New York company appear in the latest successful social study, "The Fringe of Society," a four act comedy. It is Miss Granger's greatest bill, and to all who love true artistic worth, this engagement of so strong a star ought to be hailed with particular delight. In booking in this attraction Manager Jamieson has endeavored to cater to the pleasure of those who keep track of Eastern successes.

THE steamer Islander will run to Port Angeles three trips to-day, the fare being fixed at 50 cents for the round trip. The Angeles people are making great preparations to receive the large number of visitors who are sure to take advantage of the cheap and pleasant sail across the Straits, and it is expected also that the Islander will have a good crowd from Angeles to visit the Scotch games, to be held at Caledonia Park here. The steamer will leave Victoria at 8 a.m., 1:30 p.m. and 6 p.m.; returning, will leave Angeles at 11 a.m., 4 p.m. and 9 p.m.

THE trustee election at Cedar Hill which took place on the 24th has been disputed, but the people mostly concerned have decided on a change whether the election is valid or not, and have so far proceeded that a radical transformation must be effected in the school. For six years they have patiently waited to see if the trustees would venture so far as to inquire why twenty-five children were compelled summer and winter to walk to and from Victoria, and many of them from the Cedar Hill school. Steps were taken on the 24th ult to end this state of things, and unless the point of the dispute is yielded to the majority then redress to the Supreme court is the only alternative. —COM.

THE members of the local society of True Believers enjoyed a Dominion Day picnic at Foul Bay.

LAST Sunday's sacred concert, at The Victoria, proved fully as great a treat as the first of the series. Mme. Laird, Miss Goddyn, Mr. Herbert Kent and Mr. Fred. Richardson were particularly pleasing in their several selections.

ON the Fourth of July the steamship Islander leaves the C.P.N. Co.'s wharf at 8 a.m., 1:30 p.m. and 6 p.m. Returning, leaves Angeles 11 a.m., 4 p.m. and 9 p.m. Fare for the round trip, 50 cents. Tickets at Johnston's, Hibben's and Jamieson's.

A SECOND adjournment, until Saturday, was granted by Police Magistrate Macrae yesterday, in the case of Susan Day, charged with assisting in the escape of her husband from imprisonment. Day is supposed to still be in hiding in the vicinity, although a friend claims to have received a letter from him mailed at Chehalis.

SERGEANT WALKER, of the city police, on Sunday last arrested a bandsman named William Maxwell, of H.M.S. Royal Arthur, who was wanted for desertion, and handed him over to the naval authorities. Maxwell's defence is that he had obtained permission to play the Dominion Day engagement with the City band, and had taken off his uniform for this purpose only.

PAT HOOLIGAN was charged in the Provincial court yesterday, before Farquhar Macrae, S.M., with having used threatening language towards Andrew Lambert. The prisoner was bound over to keep the peace, with the alternate of going to jail. Lambert and one witness swore that they were afraid of Hooligan, but after the magistrate had pronounced sentence both wanted to go on his bonds rather than have him go to jail.

NO. 4 BATTERY attended, last night, their regular weekly drill, in command of Capt. W. B. Smallfield. After dismissing, Corporal Thomas, on behalf of the battery, read a presentation address to Sergt.-Major P. Hibben, Sergt. F. J. Holland presenting a beautiful engraved gold headed ebony cane, after which the Sergt.-Major gave a rousing speech, the boys taking him on their shoulders round the city market and singing "For He's a Jolly Good fellow."

IN anticipation of an important statement from Rev. P. McF. Macleod, publicly announced to be given on Sunday evening, there was a large attendance at St. Andrew's Presbyterian church. The reverend gentleman then stated that what he had to say would be deferred till the evening. At that service, which also attracted a large congregation, Mr. Macleod announced that those who had gathered to listen to disclosures would not be gratified, and that his statement would be printed and sent to the members of the congregation.

THE steamer Queen arrived down from Alaska yesterday morning, and remaining in port a few hours proceeded to the Sound. Several of the excursionists left the vessel here, among whom were H. H. the Nawab of Rampour, with his party, including three leading Indian nobles. The distinguished visitors put up at the Driard yesterday, and after taking in the sights of this city, left on the steamer Premier for Vancouver this morning. The party propose staying over at Banff a few days before going to the World's Fair. The Prince is a young man about twenty years of age, but a close observer and indefatigable traveller.

WASHBURN'S three ring circus, with menagerie, trained animals, and Wild West show, opens in this city to-morrow, and is billed to give afternoon and evening performances on that day and Thursday. Very satisfactory reports come from other towns in the Province which the circus has visited, so that, undoubtedly, everyone will be satisfied with the performances. Among the other attractions are a steam piano and a wonderful steam horse, while the children will, perhaps, take greatest interest in "Cupid," the baby elephant, a little animal only three feet high, and weighing two hundred pounds, certainly a novelty not before seen in any circus visiting the Province.

THE following officers of Victoria lodge, No. 1, I.O.O.F, were installed last evening by Bro. W. G. Carsons, D.D.G.M., assisted by Bros. W. E. Holmes, G.W.; G. Fowlie, P.G.; J. H. Meldram, P.G.M.; L. Cousins, P.G., and C. W. Ross, P.G.: T. M. Jones, N.G.; E. E. Leeson, V.G.; F. Davey, P.G. R. and P. Sec.; P. A. Phillips, P.G. Treasurer; J. Robertson, W.; W. M. Dean, Con; J. Doughty, P.G., K.; W. Jackson, Organist. The grand officers will install Columbia lodge, No. 2, on Wednesday evening, and Dominion lodge, No. 4, on Thursday.

THE coming of the beautiful Maude Granger in her latest and most successful social drama, The Fringe of Society, recalls the enormous success made by this play a few years ago, when produced under the direction of the author, Alexander Dumas, at the Odeon theatre, in Paris. Many theatre goers might object to the play, fearing that it might be immoral. This is far from the case. True, it is pervaded by a Parisian atmosphere, but it is anything but vulgar. It teaches the lesson that virtue and vice will receive respectively their reward and punishment. From beginning to end the action holds the audience spellbound, and it is with almost a sigh of relief that the curtain is welcomed at the close of an act. But then what a storm of applause! In staid old Philadelphia last month the action was never once interrupted by a sound, but a moment after the curtain fell there was a perfect cyclone of noise. Cheers, hand-clapping and cries brought Miss Granger before the curtain and the talented actress had actually to make a short speech of gratitude for the splendid reception accorded her. The Fringe of Society is a great play, and the leading part gives Miss Granger the chance of her life. She fairly captivates her hearers with her consistent and talented work, while the costumes worn by her are marvels of the dressmaker's art. The Fringe of Society will be presented here this evening, in the Victoria theatre.

THE examinations for teachers' certificates begin this morning at the High School building. There will be a large number of candidates witing here.

THERE was a large attendance at the gospel temperance meeting at the Metropolitan church Sunday afternoon, the service being greatly enjoyed.

THE Pudlic School Board met last evening and spent several hours or more discussing the question of plans and sites for the new ward schools. No decision was reached, however, and an adjournment was finally taken until another evening this week.

A LARGE run of cohoe salmon took place in Plumper Pass on Saturday and Sunday, and local fishermen were on hand making big hauls. The lightkeeper, Mr. Henry Georgeson, made a catch of seventeen within an hour, with only the use of a spoon bait.

A JOINT committee meeting of Far West and Sunset lodges and the U. R. Knights of Pythias, was held last night, when final arrangements were made for an excursion to Seattle by the Islander on Saturday, July 15. Invitations to participate will be sent to all lodges in British Columbia. Committees were appointed as follows: Printing—Ed. Leason, A. Hall and H. Dobbs. Transportation—H. Behnsen, F. Gouge and E. Kerer. Music—J. P. Smith and W. Beswick.

BACK FROM VANCOUVER.

Victoria's Volunteer Excursionists Immensely Delighted With Their Trip to the Terminal City.

The three companies of artillery returned home from Vancouver by the steamer Joan Sunday evening and marched to the Market hall, where Lt.-Col. Prior, A.D.C., addressed a few words to the men, commending them for their exemplary conduct during their two days' stay at the Terminal City.

As has already been mentioned the parade of the Victoria volunteers was the great feature of Saturday morning's proceedings at Vancouver, and the outbursts of spontaneous applause, which frequently burst from the crowds of spectators who lined the streets, as the three companies, with ranks as straight as a wall, went past in column, is proof that the boys reflected great credit on Victoria. The muster was the largest on record, No. 4 (Capt. Smallfield) parading 43, rank and file; No. 2 (Lieut. Sargison) being second with 37 men; while No. 3 (Capt. Quinlan) had 30.

Saturday evening the officers entertained a few guests at dinner at the Hotel Vancouver, among those present being Mayor Cope, G. E. Corbould, M.P., H. Abbott, Ex-Mayor Oppenheimer, C. D. Rand, J. Murray, of the Bank of B.C., J. C. Keith, I. Oppenheimer, Lieut.-Colonel Wolfenden, Major Dupont, Capt. A. W. Jones and Capt. Townley of No. 1 Co.

Sunday morning the battalion paraded for church at 10:30 o'clock, and headed by "C" Battery band, marched from the steamer Joan to St. Andrew's Presbyterian church, where Rev. Mr. F. McLaren preached an appropriate sermon. At 2 o'clock the steamer drew out from the wharf with three cheers and a "tiger" from the volunteers for their Vancouver entertainers, which were responded to by three and a similar animal from the crowd on the dock, led by Mayor Cope and C. D. Rand. The entire company, officers and men, express themselves as delighted with their visit, and are high in their praise of the entertainment received at the hands of the Vancouverites.

SPORTS AND PASTIMES.

Victoria's Perfect Training Won Saturday's Match—Lacrosse at Whatcom.

A Toronto Yacht Captures the Queen's Cup—Sporting Notes.

In the lacrosse match at Vancouver, on Saturday, the Victoria team outplayed their opponents at every point. All members were in the pink of condition except, perhaps, Blight, who had run in three races before the match. Frank Cullin, the youngest member of the team, ran away from Smith, the crack sprinter of the Vancouvers; Geo. Tite also did some fast running with the ball. Eckardt was in his right position, and his and Macnaughton's work was the admiration of the grand stand. Clark held Suckling down, and did other good work. In fact every member of the team played a fine game, but as the ball was continually at the Vancouvers' flags they did not have much opportunity to show the strength of the defence. It was a defence game for Vancouver, so Victoria's defence had little to do. In the last game Morency followed Morton, who had been playing a rapid, but fair game, from the start, and deliberately fouled him by striking him a hard blow. For some unexplained reason both men were ordered to the fence by Referee Whyte, where Morency bragged that he had accomplished what he had struck Morton for. Otherwise the match was fought out on strictly fair lacrosse. It was a surprise to the Vancouverites, who had calculated an altogether different outcome. They were in excellent form, but their opponents had trained to perfection, and were masters of the situation. The club are to be congratulated on their success, and while they deserve every praise, it is hoped that they will keep up their present form for the balance of the series. This can only be secured by practice, and if it is taken, they are almost certain to be victorious in every match.

VANCOUVER AND WESTMINSTER AT WHATCOM.

VANCOUVER, July 3.—(Special)—The Vancouver and Westminster lacrosse teams go to Whatcom on Tuesday to show the Yankees how the first-class teams play our great national game.

To satisfy a number of interested parties who accuse certain defence players of the Vancouver team with selling Saturday's game to Victoria betting men, an investigation is talked of. The vastly superior play of the Victoria home to the Vancouver defence has caused the suspicion to gain currency. In justice to the accused an immediate investigation should be held. It is said that $2,000 was taken out of the two cities by Victoria people in wagers.

NEW WESTMINSTER, July 3.—(Special)—The Westminster Lacrosse team goes to New Whatcom to-morrow to play a match with Vancouver for the medals offered by the Whatcom celebration committee.

AN EXHIBITION GAME.

This afternoon the James Bay and Star Lacrosse clubs will line up in Port Angeles to play an exhibition game for the benefit of their American friends, who have kindly invited them to take part in the celebration of their national holiday. The following are the respective teams:

James Bay—Bland (J.) Spencer, Smith, Lorimer (W.), Schnoter (F.), Bland (W.), McCulloch, Schnoter (C.), Wolfenden, Lawson, Anderson, and Lorimer (H.)

Stars—Norman (S.) Stevens, Finlayson (R.), Finlayson (A.), Mouat, Laing, Braden, Sinclair, Clark, Butler, Norman (F.), and McDonald.

PRAIRIE MEN TO PLAY.

The "Bisons," of Regina, are at present in correspondence with the three strong clubs of this Province with a view to paying British Columbia a visit and playing a short series of matches on the close of the Provincial championship series.

YACHTING.

NOTHING BUT A DRIFTING MATCH.

LONDON, July 3.—The regatta of the Royal Northern Yacht club took place today. The course was off Rothesay, Scotland; the wind was light, and the regatta proved little better than a drifting match. At the end of the first round the commodore of the club stopped the race and awarded the first prize to the Galluna, the Scotch cutter. The Valkyrie, the challenger for the America's cup, was given the second place, and the Sanita third prize. The Britannia, the Prince of Wales' boat, was fourth.

FOR THE QUEEN'S CUP.

HAMILTON, July 3.—The third annual race for the Queen's cup, presented by Queen Victoria to the yachtmen of Canada, took place on Saturday off Burlington Beach, under the auspices of the Royal Hamilton Yacht club, and was won by the Zelma of Toronto.

THE RING.

A PRIZE COLLECTION OF SMALL FRY.

At Thompson's Hall, Port Angeles, this evening, William FitzHenry, of Angeles, will meet Robert Foster, "Champion of British Columbia," as per small bills. Prof. Mike Quilligan goes over to challenge the winner at the ringside, for from $200 to $500 a side. Orders for Quilligan's scalp may be left at Burns' Central Hall, Angeles, or Harry Fox' Caledonia, in this city.

THE WHEEL.

A MAN WITH A RECORD.

VANCOUVER, July 3.—(Special).—Clabon, the dark horse who won the five-mile bicycle race Saturday, is a young Englishman, and holds a gold medal for the ten-mile championship of the Ipswich, England, club, 1890, besides holding twenty other valuable prizes won in the Eastern and Midland counties.

QUOITS.

HETSON WON.

On Sunday afternoon a championship game of quoits was played between Burt Adams and Fred Stetson, of Victoria, for $100 a side. It was a very interesting game until the last throw, when Mr. Stetson made a ringer and won the game.

CRICKET.

A PRACTICE MATCH.

A team, captained by Dr. Helmcken, will play one captained by Mr. Foulkes, on the Albion ground, at 2:30 to-day.

THE LITTLE TYRANT.

HOW A FOOLISH MOTHER SPOILED HER SON.

Body Slave to a Young Bully—Training Up a Child In a Way He Should Not Go. The Lad Who Was Interviewed In the Cellar.

[Copyright, 1893, by American Press Association.]

THINKING of how some wise persons bring up their children, I am reminded of an evening that I spent years ago in the family of the capable and popular editor of one of the most sturdily independent sheets in the country. I had long known and respected him, but this was my first visit to his family—his wife and two children. The elder child was a girl about 7 years old, who had early been taught by her mother that her position in the household was secondary to her brother's, this being the faith of many foolish mothers. The boy, a tyrant by nature and sufferance, was about 5 years old and evidently managed the house. I had been invited in an old fashioned, cordial way to "take tea and spend the evening," and I accordingly appeared at the hour named.

The children, with a group of others, were playing on the sidewalk before the house, which was on a quiet street infrequented by business vehicles. I saw at once that my friend's little girl was one of those unhappy children, the "little mothers" who, although scarcely more than babies themselves, are burdened and worried with the care of others still younger long before their time. This girl was so harassed by her brother's unmanageableness and stubborn, selfish, domineering ways toward the other children, whom he abused right and left, that she could not stop to greet me at all, being continually reminded by her mother from a window.

"Look out for Petty, Ellen!"

"See to your brother, Ellen!"

"Who is worrying Petty, Ellen?"

"Have any of you hurt Petty, Ellen?"

"Now you are neglecting your brother, Ellen!"

"If I hear Petty crying again, Ellen, I shall call you into the house!"

"If you don't take better care of your brother, Ellen, I shall not let you go out of doors again for a week!"

And so on and on until the poor child had not a moment left for her own play, but was simply a body slave to the young bully. Finally he was said to be tired and was brought bawling into the house, and I supposed that then the poor, patient little sister would have her turn at play; but, no, the tyrant did not want her to go out unless he could go, too, and so she must sit sorrowfully in the house while her mates went away disappointed just at the pleasantest half hour of the day.

After tea, at which the youngster reigned with a rod of iron, interrupted only by a few mild protests from his father, who objected deferentially to his plan (and evident habit) of pre-empting the sugar bowl and putting his hand in the strawberry dish, the girl was hustled off to bed, as the boy was tired of her and now proposed to monopolize his mother. The girl departed with a tired little sigh that spoke volumes; but, alas! the boy had not the least notion of retiring, nor was there the least move made toward it excepting a tentative suggestion from his father that it would be pleasant to be able to have a little conversation with the visitor. This suggestion was at once frowned down by his son, who busied himself in alternately "riding a cock horse" on his father's foot, rolling on the floor and screaming when the cock horse was too tired to go any longer and pounding his mother in the face when she undertook to remove his noisy shoes.

Of course all thought of talk was out of the question. Nothing was possible excepting to sit and watch the child's antics and hear his outrageous noise. Even this would have seemed pleasant later on, after he announced his intention to build a train of cars. First he claimed the sofa and all the spare chairs. Then he compelled his mother to rise and yield her seat. Then he laid siege to his father's chair, which surrendered, after some well bred grumbling from the occupant, who provoked a series of discordant yells from his offspring by suggesting, with the acumen that had made his reputation as the editor of a farsighted and judicious daily, that perhaps the visitor had had enough of Petty. Petty combated this view with firmness and success. He not only refused to budge, but he made cruel reprisal on the innocent cause of the suggestion by at once seizing the leg of her chair and emptying her out of it in order to utilize it in finishing his railroad train.

Thereafter for two hours the spectacle was presented of three well grown and supposably rational persons—that boy's parents and their guest—standing leaning against the wall, while that little miscreant banged, tipped over, dragged round and pulled about and whacked every chair in the room. Of course it was impossible to converse—he yelled, screamed and shouted and insisted on having every one's attention. I could only change my weight from one aching foot to the other (I had walked a long distance that day) and mentally promise myself that I would never enter the house again. Glad indeed was I when 10 o'clock came and I was free to take my aching limbs home, where, I thanked heaven, were no boys. I think no one heard my adieus, as the little ruffian was still howling at the top of his voice when I escaped.

I left the house with the impression that my revered friend was either a much more easy going man than I had supposed or was very unusually fond of an ill bred and injudicious wife. It was the mother's fault that the boy began his tantrums. It was the father's fault that they were kept up till 10 o'clock.

The only attempt at an apology for the performance was the mild remark that the boy "would really make so much more noise if he were crossed!"

That boy was a dozen years old before I again ventured into his father's house. I own that I had always felt a lively curiosity as to how he would grow up. My curiosity was satisfied before I left the house. True, he no longer turned me out of my chair, and his sister sometimes got a few minutes to herself—when she was not hunting for his hat, picking up his tossed about garments or helping him about his lesson. His mother, as is usual, had gained no favor from him by her unwise indulgence. When she asked him to split some kindlings, he flatly refused. So she complained to his father, who at once interviewed the young man in the cellar.

"How is it," asked the parent, "that you refuse to obey your mother and do not prepare the kindlings when she bids you?"

"The house is yours," replied this acute reasoner and dutiful son, "and the kindlings are yours, not mine. I think it's your business to do your own work for your own house."

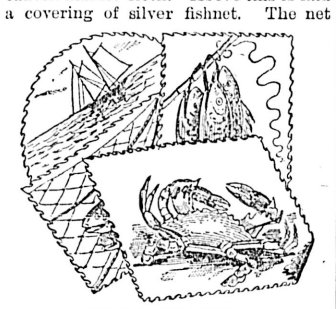

At last the worm turned. I am inclined to think he turned the boy over his knee from the sounds which followed, and I am free to say that I enjoyed that trouncing as heartily as I ever enjoyed anything with which I had nothing whatever to do.

That boy grew up a sullen, selfish, unruly youth, dreaded by his juniors in school and disliked by the neighbors, the worry and anxiety of his parents, the bully and tyrant of his sister, the marvel and aversion of his father's friends, who supposed the son of such a man would be a gentleman. But by the light of his bringing up was it any wonder?

Decoration For a Piscatory Dinner.

A delicate abstemious feast suited to the Lenten season may have a menu of selected fish and decorations unique and quaint in device suggestive of water life. A cover of delicate green cheesecloth or silk, edged with a full frill, pinked out at the edges, may overspread the heavy canton flannel cloth. Above this is laid a covering of silver fishnet. The net may be purchased in sufficient width for 60 cents, and it is easily silvered with a mixture of silver powder laid on with a brush. A large glass fish globe is next to be decorated with seaweed and coral, painted in oil, tied about the top with broad, glistening green satin ribbon and filled with goldfish, selected for their bright coats. This serves for the centerpiece. About it may be placed a ring of gibbeted oyster shells, incrusted with Roman pearls. A little paste fastens these to the shells. Wreathed about these should be bits of bright red coral and dull green seaweed.

Silver or crystal candelabra may be placed at either end of the sumptuous board and fitted with green candles surmounted by tiny green crape paper shades. These set airily on silver supporters and may be silvered at the edges and spangled with tiny silver stars, which will be all aglitter in the candle light. Tall crystal vases filled with artificial waxen pond lilies may have billowy lace tucked in and out and smilax added to trail down about the slender stem. Toy canoes and fluted shells, gilded or silvered, should hold bonbons and sweets, while gilt dragons and exquisite Italienne dishes representing mermaids are appropriate if costly. Oyster and fish sets, fish napkins, doilies worked in seeweed, are always a part of household store. For baked fish there is a long dish made in Italienne ware in exact imitation of a monster fish. This incases the fish, keeping it hot until the moment of serving.

Beveled edged cards serve for the menus and are ornamented with gilded ropes and pulleys made of button moles pasted together and gilded and cleverly painted in water colors in designs of ships, crabs, lobsters, strings of fish, sea gulls or a tar's sailor bonnet. They are very lovely. If retained as a souvenir by each favored guest, they may prove a fresh inspiration to the memory of the mermaid hostess with silver banded yellow locks and greenish gown who created so bewitching a coral dell from her sea king's treasures.

FLORENCE TYNG ELLIS.

Pillowshams.

The pillowsham illustrated is made of fine white linen and heavy lace. The middle has an initial or monogram, with an ornamental border or garland worked in outline in pink, blue or red washing silk to match the color over which the shams are to be used. This embroidered middle is surrounded by a band of wide insertion, and this again by a band of the plain linen, which may have a narrow running pattern embroidered on it in the silk if it is desired. The sham is finished by lace sewed plainly around the edge except at the corners, where it is fulled a little to keep it from drawing.

WOMAN'S WORLD IN PARAGRAPHS.

A Kind of Man That Young Ladies Should Not Worry About.

"Do young men think less of girls who work or more of those who do not?" A leading New York newspaper has offered a prize for the best answers to this question from a man and a woman. The idea was started by a young woman who wrote to the paper saying she knew several working girls who would not let their male friends know what they were doing. My dear girl, don't spend five minutes harrowing yourself up over a question of this kind. Any young man from whom you must disguise the fact that you are honest, brave and industrious enough to earn your own living is just the sort of man that you don't want to be on speaking terms with. I think I'd climb a fence to get away from that kind of a man. There's something radically wrong with his heart or his head or both.

Woman suffrage bills are cropping out all over the country. The Ontario legislature has just defeated one by a vote of 57 to 16. There's nothing like keeping at it.

An unusual grist of "Arabian Nights'" tales of women who are making fabulous wealth in literature are just now going the rounds. Not one in a hundred are true. But that wouldn't matter so much if they did not do a vast deal of harm by firing the ambition of those who could earn better livings at something else. If the love of writing, like virtue, is its own reward, go ahead, but let no woman, except she possesses great and exceptional talent, expect to get rich at it.

Sir Edwin Arnold is credited with having said that if he were at liberty to choose his sex and country he would be an American woman. He must be the first man who ever wished he was a woman. If he isn't, it would be interesting to know who the other one is. But certainly he is right about the proud position of the American as compared with other women. Right here it would be well for all women to remember that said proud position was not gained by sitting down and letting men arrange it for them. Every new advantage that she enjoys today was obtained through the grit and courage of some other woman. The men, bless their hearts, don't mean to be hard hearted and tyrannical, but how are they to know what a woman wants unless she lets her needs be known? "If you don't see what you want, ask for it."

The blackballing of Lotta in New York's most famous woman's club, Sorosis, has caused a large sensation in literary and artistic circles. What a pity it is that club members cannot remember their initiation vows and keep silent upon these matters. But women are no worse than men, as witness the case of Mr. Seligman's rejection from the Union League club. Miss Lotta Crabtree, who is a bright, sensible, talented woman, against whose character there has never been a breath of reproach, and who is withal a very wealthy woman, has come out of the ordeal with flying colors and added dignity. Her calm acceptance of the situation, with the remark that she felt complimented that 210 of such brilliant, brainy women should have voted for her while only 7 voted against her, puts her in a much more dignified light than the narrow minority who dropped in the blackballs. The affair has done much more harm to Sorosis than it has to Miss Lotta.

General Booth says "women are the best rulers" and has named his daughter instead of either of his sons as his successor in command of the Salvation Army.

Mr. Arthur Balfour has frequently said that his most valuable political advice comes from his sister and housekeeper, Miss Agnes Balfour. Mr. Balfour is a gentleman to admit it.

The newest thing is a detective agency for the shadowing of prospective bridegrooms. Just picture the feelings of George if he should discover that his photograph which he imagines is being worn next to Gladys' heart, or at least in a silver frame on her dressing table, is instead walking around in a detective's pocket. This is actually wringing the last drop of sentiment out of the wooing. Still women, especially those without male relatives, can know very little of the life of a man outside of their own drawing rooms. They are continually being deceived, and why should they not put themselves in possession of the facts as a necessary precaution?

A well known physician has said that catarrh is a very rare disease among Quakeresses, and he attributes this to the fact that the Quaker bonnet protects the back of the head and neck from the cold. If this is true, the idea deserves careful consideration. Why could not some pretty headgear be invented that would protect this sensitive portion of the anatomy? But if it didn't bristle and perk itself up in the aggressively coquettish way necessary to keep pace with the sleeves and exaggerated frills of the present corsage it would be dropped immediately. Almost any woman would rather have the catarrh than an unfashionable bonnet.

Skim and simmer gently for two hours, then add the onion, mace, bay leaf, cloves, peppercorns and allspice and simmer one hour longer. Take out the knuckle, carefully remove the bones and put the meat into a square mold. Boil the liquor until reduced to one quart. ## THE OLD LADY.

On the Way to the World's Fair She Gets Frightened.

The poor old lady had never ridden in a railroad train before, and now she was making the long journey from New York to Chicago. She asked me for my sympathy.

"My son is in the smoking place," said she. "He only laughs at my fears. But I have read of all the horrid accidents in the papers, and I am sure we shall all be plunged into eternity. Are you not afraid? This train goes so fast. I cannot think what keeps it on the track. My son would take a fast train. 'If you've got to die, you may as well die with a rush,' he says. You would almost think he wanted to be killed.

"Oh, you only say that to soothe me, but I am not to be deceived. It's reckless to run cars so fast. I know it cannot be done with safety. There! What a lurch! Really, you have taken these trains so often? And did nothing ever happen? And they went so terribly fast, like this? I am sure you ease my mind greatly. I am much obliged to you. I thought it would do me good just to tell how miserable I was. So you have a wife and children and ain't afraid? I am sure you would not run any risk, and I am glad you comfort me so. There's the colored man. He wants to speak to you."

"Beg yo' pardon, colonel," said the porter. "How does yo' like yo' head?"

"Mercy on me! 'How do you like your head!' What possesses the man?"

"He means how do I want my berth made up. Make it up with my feet toward the engine, porter, please."

"Oh, I see! Dear me! I'll never dare to go to bed. I shall sit up the whole night, dressed and ready for whatever happens."

"No; don't feel that way. There is no danger. Retire just as you would at home, and you will fall asleep and forget your fears."

"Really? Well, I will follow your advice. You cannot think how you have calmed me."

"I shall undress and sleep like a baby. Porter, leave the window open at the foot of my berth and leave the screen in."

"Yes, sir. Say, colonel, yo's right havin yo' feet made to'ds de enjyne. Dat's how I allus tell de passengers. 'Feet to'ds de enjyne is de safes' way ebery time,' says I."

"Safest way?" echoed the old lady. "Goodness sakes! How do you mean it's safest?"

"It's easy to see, I kin assure yo', ma'am. Ef yo's sleepin feet fust, why dar yo' is; but ef yo're sleepin wid yo' head to'ds de enjyne, den when dis yer train smashes into some other train yo' is flung right agin yo' head, an yo' neck is broke jist like it was a straw."

"Mercy on me! Are we going to smash into some other"——

"No, ma'am; I didn't say we was a-goin to. All I say is it's best to be prepared. I've been running on dis yer road 22 years, and I've seen 'leven kerlisions, an every time de folks what's killed is de folks which gits chucked agin their heads. Only last week in de accident at Osceola which I were in a stout lady like you, she"——

But the porter addressed a vacant place. The old lady had fled in search of her son. —Julian Ralph in Harper's Magazine.

Waiting.

I had stopped to smoke a pipe with a Georgia "cracker" on a log at his door, and noticing the general shiftlessness of the surroundings I finally asked:

"Why don't you fix the roof of your cabin?"

"Gwine ter some day," he replied.

"That chimney ought to be rebuilt."

"I'm a-considerin to do it."

"I should be afraid that stable would fall down and kill the mule."

"Reckon I've got to prop it."

"The weeds appear to be too much for your corn."

"Yes, weeds is powerful around yere."

He was so placid and good natured about it that I ventured further and said:

"It seems to me that with ambition and hard work you could not only make a good living on this place, but get something ahead."

"I could, fur suah," he answered.

"Then why don't you do it?"

"Waitin."

"Waiting for what?"

"Waitin fur to git that ambishun yo' spoke of."

"And do you think you'll ever get it?"

He refilled his pipe, lighted it and slid off the log to get a brace for his back. When he had got comfortably settled, he queried:

"Stranger, yo' doan' live around yere, I reckon?"

"No."

"'Cause if yo' did yo'd diskiver that I hev a mighty good thing of it as it is and would be a fool to let go fur sumthin new!" —Detroit Free Press.

No More For Her.

Miss Sabrina Nelson of Peakville had been over to Centerbury to attend the centennial celebration of the settlement of that town, and she was tired out.

"How did you enjoy it, Sabriny?" asked one of her neighbors the next day.

"Oh, 'twas pleasant enough if anybody likes sech goins on," replied Miss Nelson loftily. "One seein is about all I want of it. I made up my mind last night I wouldn't ever go to another centennial in Centerbury, not if I lived to be 80 years old!"—Youth's Companion.

A Lively Dose.

A worthy doctor residing in the Rue des Carottes ordered his man to take a box of pills to one of his patients and at the same time deliver a cage containing six canaries at the house of a friend of his. By a strange oversight the man presented the cage to the patient with the following prescription, "Swallow a couple every half hour."—Esprit des Autres.

"But it is so becoming! And then Bob's salary will be nearly $3,000 next year."—Life.

A DIFFERENT MATTER.

The Young Man Didn't Want His Daughter, but He Wanted Something Else.

"Good morning, Mr. Browler," said the rising young dry goods man with a store of his own as he stepped into Browler & Peckham's office on Main street. "I called to see you about your daughter, Miss Geraldine"——

The old man's chair swung around like a flying Dutchman at a country fair.

"I spoke to her about—er—about a little matter between us"——

"Ah, indeed?" encouragingly said the old man, smiling reassuringly.

"Yes, sir, I—er—spoke to her this morning, and she—er—referred me to you for"—

"Take her, my son, take her—I welcome you as one of the family—I assure you I have long esteemed you as a most estimable young man"——

"I—I—er—Mr. Browler—I"——

"And if I must give up my daughter, my dear boy, it takes away part of the pain to think that you"——

"But I—er—I"——

"Yes, I know, you would not willingly cause me pain, and yet—my Geraldine—how can I have her go? So sweet, so kind, so tender, so modest and affectionate always! It almost breaks my heart"——

The old man hastily drew a big bandanna from his pocket and encouraged his eyes.

"But still, my dear boy, she is yours—she is yours, and I shall say God bless you with all"——

"But you misunderstand me, sir," stammered the rising young dry goods man. "I came to see you"——

He put his hand into his breast pocket.

"About a bill Miss Geraldine has been running at our place, for the settlement of which she referred me to you this morning"——

He drew out a long slip.

"Amounting to $87.23"——

"Eighty-seven dollars and twenty-three cents? Bill at your store? Geraldine? Confound the extravagant, ungrateful hussy. Why, she will surely ruin me, if"——

"Could you oblige me with the amount?"

"The amount? No, sir. Consarn you, don't you see that sign, 'No business transacted after 4 o'clock?' Come round tomorrow morning."

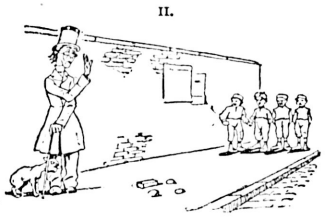

And he walked into the inner office and slammed the door like a cannon.—Cincinnati Commercial Gazette.

A Long Way.

With tottering, uncertain footsteps he advanced through the gathering gloom.

He raised his eyes wearily, when he was suddenly confronted by a gleaming pistol barrel.

"Hold up your hands."

Involuntarily and by force of habit he extended his arms heavenward in response to the command.

"I'm after your money."

"Oh, certainly."

With a stifled sigh he waited until the highwayman had rifled his clothes.

"Will you"——

His voice was faint and spiritless.

——"do me a favor?"

The footpad nodded consent.

"Will you be kind enough to tell me how much farther I must go before I will be outside the grounds of the Columbian exposition?"

But all the robber could do was to refer him to the bureau of information, where, he explained, questions would be cheerfully answered at the rate of $1 apiece.—Detroit Tribune.

Knew It Was So.

A lady very fond of cats and a man devoted to dogs fell into a controversy over the merits of those animals. In the midst of it the lady said:

"So you really think that dogs sometimes possess more intelligence than their masters?"

"Certainly. I've got one myself that does!"—Youth's Companion.

Symptoms Favorable.

Mother—When do you suppose that young man who calls upon you will make known his intentions, Laura?

Laura—I think he will propose pretty soon. Last evening he was very anxious to know whether I could dress on $100 a year. —Yankee Blade.

He—May I ask you for a dance?

She—Certainly, the last one on the list.

"But I'll not be here then."

"Neither will I."—Texas Siftings.

HER OBJECT.

She talked about flirtation
As a harmless occupation
And the art of osculation
As a most familiar thing,
And she said she saw no reason
Why a maiden shouldn't "freeze on"
At the proper time each season
To a sparkling diamond ring.

She spoke of slang as "taking"
And the fellows she was "shaking"
And, my finer feelings raking,
Talked of men who "took the cake."
She believed, she said, in drinking
And accompanied this by winking,
And I could not keep from thinking
What a dreadful wife she'd make.

Thus she gibbered without meaning,
While I sat, my feelings screening
And my cultured mind careening
And my heart surcharged with woe.
While in language unexpected
She talked on with mien dejected.
Alas! had I suspected
That she wanted me to go!
—Tom Masson in Life.

How She Was Cured.

One of the most estimable women in a London suburb is subject to sudden faints and hysterics and confidently expects some day to die during one of them. Several days ago while sitting at her front window engaged in some light needlework conversing with a neighbor, she felt one of the spells coming over her. She called to her friend to summon Dr. —— and then fan her. The friend went for the family doctor, and in a short time he was at the house. Meanwhile the sufferer was sure she was dying.

"Oh, Mrs. ——," she sobbed hysterically, "I know I am going this time. I'm dying now; I'm dying. Goodby, Mrs. ——."

The doctor at once began the application of the usual restoratives, but they seemed of no avail. The sufferer appeared to be gradually losing her breath, and the doctor believed she was expiring. He tore away the ruching about her neck and called to her friend:

"Mrs. ——, take off her shoes, please. We must enliven her circulation somehow."

The doctor got her neck free enough, but when the friend lifted one foot to remove the shoe, the sufferer kicked her friend's hands with the other foot. The doctor did not notice this, but thinking the friend could not perhaps undo the buttons he reached down and picked up one of the patient's feet. The sufferer, evidently in her last gasps, kicked him also, but the doctor was determined.

"Mrs. ——," he said, "your shoes are too tight. They must come off."

"Don't, doctor," gurgled the patient. "Don't, doctor. I'm dying."

"I know it, Mrs. ——," he said, "but those shoes must come off."

"Oh, no, doctor," was the feeble pleading.

"But I say yes," answered the now frightened doctor, "and I'll take them off too."

"Oh, doctor, please don't; please don't."

"I'm sorry, Mrs. ——, but"——

Raising herself with a powerful effort, the patient, pale as death itself, gasped, "Please don't take off my shoes, doctor—my stockings are full of holes."

The effort seemed to bring back the life to the sufferer, and in half an hour she was as well as ever, with a new pair of stockings on, fully ready for the next "faint."—Tit-Bits.

Triflin.

Pompey Leone Scott was accounted the oldest inhabitant of Vinebury, though nobody knew just what his age was. Pompey's reply when questioned on this point usually displayed the mixture of shrewdness and simplicity which distinguished his character.

"I ain't got de date uv my burf put down, honey," he would say, "an I hab to go by guesswork. W'en I tink ob all dis yer nigger has seen, 'pears like I mus' be more'n a hunderd years ol'.

"But w'en I reflex on w'at Pompey Leone Scott hab done an hab larn sence he been libbin in dis yer worl, sho, chile, I b'lieb he jes' some triflin age, like twen'y-five, say!" —Youth's Companion.

No Wonder.

Mr. Staylate—Why, my watch has stopped.

She—I'm not surprised. You haven't wound it since you came.—Brooklyn Life.

A Boy's Ambition.

There is, as a rule, nothing more lofty than the ambition of a boy of 5 who has looked carefully over the whole range of human endeavor and made up his mind what he is going to be. A lad of that observant age known to all of his kind as "going on 6" was asked the other day if he expected to become a lawyer like his father.

"Oh, no," said he, with a positive shake of his head. "I'm going to be a captain of a big ship, and I'll sail out west and bombard the Indians on the plains."—Harper's Magazine.

The Right Person.

Stranger (at the door)—I am trying to find a lady whose married name I have forgotten, but I know she lives in this neighborhood. She is a woman easily described, and perhaps you know her—a singularly beautiful creature, with pink and white complexion, seashell ears, lovely eyes, and hair such as a goddess might envy.

Servant—Really, sir, I don't know——

Voice (from head of stairs)—Jane, tell the gentleman I'll be down in a minute.—Yankee Blade.

Without Delay.

Fond Mother (listening to baby's cries)—What a sweet toned voice she has, dear! She'll be a splendid singer. We must send her to Italy and have her voice cultivated.

AN INVESTIGATION BURKED.

Decision of the City Council Not to Comply With the Commissioners' Report.

Engineer Mohun Will Sue the City—Chief Deasy on Imperfect Fire Protection.

Mayor Beaven did not put in an appearance at last evening's regular meeting of the City Council, and Ald. McKillican was voted to the chair. Other members of the Board present were: Ald. Belyea, Styles, Bragg, Henderson, Miller and Baker. After routine business, the aldermen waded into the big pile of communications on the City Clerk's desk representing the accumulation of a month or more, and the following is the result:

The monthly report of the Sanitary Inspector was received and filed.

A report from the City Engineer re drain opposite R. T. William's property on Yates street, was received and filed, and a copy ordered to be send to Mr. Williams.

Two letters complaining of depredations in the Ross Bay cemetery were referred to the Cemetery committee for report.

ALD. STYLES wanted to add the cemetery caretaker to the committee, but Ald Miller objected, saying that when he, as chairman of the Cemetery committee, wanted information or advice from the caretaker he would call that official before the committee, and if he did not come would soon know why. He did not understand the growing inclination of members of the Aldermanic board always to add a city official to the committees. City officials were the servants of the corporation, and when it was necessary or expedient to have their assistance and advice the various committees could call for them.

A communication complaining of the drainage of Blythe street, Spring Ridge, was read and filed, as tenders are now being asked for for putting in a new drain.

The following communication from the Sewerage Commissioners was read:

SANITARY ENGINEER'S OFFICE,
CITY HALL, VICTORIA, B.C.,
June 28, 1893.

His Worship the Mayor and the Board of Aldermen:

GENTLEMEN:—We beg to call your attention to the unwarrantable statements with reference to the sewerage works, which have been reported in the daily papers as made by certain aldermen, and which so far have not been contradicted by their alleged authors. These statements, while reflecting chiefly upon the integrity and professional skill of the engineer, also necessarily impute mismanagement, if nothing worse, to the commissioners.

We have been identified with the work since its inception; we know all that has been done; we have been, through the whole period, in constant communication and consultation with the engineer, and are firmly convinced that the statements referred to have not the slightest foundation. The works have been thoroughly well constructed, and have proved most efficient and satisfactory, in as far as the work has been carried out, assertions to the contrary notwithstanding.

We find it difficult to believe that any member of the Council has faith in the unfounded reports which for many months past have been circulated by certain aldermen, for the purpose of decrying a sewerage system which has met the approval of the most eminent authorities. Surely it would have been the duty of any member of the Council, as the guardian of the public funds, believing these assertions well founded, to have demanded an immediate investigation. Nearly a month ago Mr. Mohun addressed a letter to the Council requesting that such an investigation be made. No notice whatever was taken of that communication until a second letter had been sent to the chairman of the Sewerage committee, requesting him to call the attention of the Council to the matter. Upon this, we believe a committee was appointed to ascertain if an investigation was advisable, and up to the present time this committee has apparently done nothing; while in the face of Mr. Mohun's reiterated application, Alderman Baker is reported to have asserted that the Sanitary Engineer did not want any investigation. Judging from the reported proceedings of the Council, your honorable body appears to be unaware of the contents of the reports made to you from time to time by the commissioners and the engineer.

Some of your members express disapprobation of the work, because the connections with the buildings were not made at the time when the covers were being constructed. The blame for this, if any, must rest with the Council, as in and since 1890 the commissioners have repeatedly urged upon the Council the great importance of having these connections made as the work proceeded, but with no result.

We again earnestly call your attention to the great importance of at once having the flush-tanks constructed and the flap-valves put in place; neglect of these essential conditions to success will inevitably result in the accumulation of sewer gas, which sooner or later will find its way into dwellings, and cause an outbreak of typhoid, diphtheria, or other disease, for which the public will be justified in holding you responsible.

We trust you will cause the investigation asked for by Mr. Mohun to be made, and on the lines suggested by Alderman Baker, viz.: Before a tribunal competent to take evidence on oath, into all or any matter connected with the sewerage works

We have the honor to be,
Gentlemen, your obedient servants,
(Signed) J. H. TURNER.
THOS. KARLE.
JNO. TEAGUE.
Sewerage Commissioners.

ALD. BELYEA—I move that the communication be read and laid on the table for further consideration.

ALD. STYLES—Received and filed.

ALD. BELYEA—No you don't! You can't treat this communication that way. Some of you are going to face the music now, after all your loud talk for a year or more.

ALD. BAKER wanted an investigation, and denied that he had ever said the Sanitary Engineer did not want any investigation, at least not since the report had come in.

ALD. BELYEA—Oh yes, you did.

ALD. BAKER—No, I have not. I never accused Mr. Mohun of doing anything wrong, nor did I ever attack his character.

ALD. MILLER—What is that communication?

THE CHAIRMAN—It is from the Sewerage Commissioners.

ALD. MILLER—Well, I move that the letter be received and filed and the commissioners thanked for their timely advice.

ALD. BRAGG seconded the amendment, claiming that members of the aldermanic board had every right to criticize public acts of public officials, and should not be blamed for so doing. Certainly, the construction of the sewers had not been carried on for the benefit of the general public.

ALD. BELYEA, speaking to the amendment, said he was not surprised to hear anything that Ald. Bragg or Baker or Styles might say now about not wanting an investigation. The commissioners, in this communication, had taken the only course that was open to them as honorable men. For the past six months Ald. Baker, backed up by Ald. Bragg and Styles, had been making all sorts of insinuations and statements, which no one could let pass. Four or five weeks ago Ald. Baker had stated that he wanted an investigation. Now he had a chance to have it, and did he want it? No, not a bit of it. He was just about as much afraid of an investigation as it was possible for any man to be. The object of Ald. Miller's amendment was as clear as anything could be—it was intended to burk an inquiry. It was not the wish of the mover to thank the commissioners, it was not his purpose to assist in having the inquiry, but simply to stave the whole question off, and try to crawl out of the boastful position they had pretended to assume a few weeks ago. It was high time this Council undertook to get down to business and stop its nonsense. The Board was at present only making itself ridiculous, and it was high time some business policy was adopted and stuck to, so that even if the public did not approve of the policy it would have some respect for a Council manly enough to pursue a consistent course. He, for one, was thoroughly sick and tired of this "jumping-the-fence policy," which some of the Board always pursued, and in order to get a proper discussion of this matter and a reasonable decision, he wanted the letter laid on the table until the committee to which the previous letter was referred made a report. Then this communication could be taken up with the report.

ALD. BAKER defended himself, saying he was no coward, but would be glad to have an investigation.

ALD. MILLER'S amendment was carried.

Mr. W. Ridgway Wilson, city architect, forwarded accounts for infectious diseases hospital plans, and certificate for first payment on account of construction new police barracks. Referred to Finance committee.

ALD. BAKER presented a report from the City Engineer, showing on a plan how a brick surface drain might be built through the Work Estate, instead of on the road The cost of this work would be some $17,000 less than if the drain had to be built along the road, and the drains would be better.

ALD. BELYEA favored the scheme, but did not think the Council should commit itself to any course of action until a proper title was given to the property. No business man would have made a proposition of this kind, and the Council should not. The proper course was to adopt the course and then refer the document to the City Barristers to have the documents drawn and signed.

This suggestion prevailed, and the motion was amended accordingly.

A communication from the Sanitary Engineer re delivery of sewer pipe was referred to the Finance committee.

S. Perry Mills wrote on behalf of the proprietors of the Grand Pacific hotel, complaining of a nuisance. Referred to Sanitary committee.

The City Engineer wrote again urging the construction of flush tanks for the sewers.

ALD. BELYEA—These tanks are an absolute necessity, and if we don't attend to this matter this year we will have some trouble.

Referred to the Sewerage committee.

The Chief of the Fire department sent in the following letter:

CHIEF ENGINEER'S OFFICE,
Victoria Fire Department,
Victoria, B.C. June 5, 1893.

His Worship the Mayor and Fire Wardens:

GENTLEMEN,—I have the honor to submit the following report for the month of May:

Three fires occurred, with a loss estimated at $2,630. Two of the fires were promptly extinguished; the third occurred in a quantity of rubbish at the north east corner of Broad and Johnson streets, near a building formerly occupied by the late Willis Bond. I notified the agents to remove the debris, but they failed to do so. The whole locality is dangerous.

I have two firemen on the sick list and one out of town, with substitutes in their places.

The dry season is a reminder that the department asked for 2 600 feet of fire hose at the beginning of this year. It is sadly needed, and I respectfully recommend the placing of this hose in the fire halls as soon as possible.

I would also recommend the placing of the reserve engines in one of the stores connected with the market, so that they might be taken out at any time. The superintendent of the market is away during the night, and the doors are locked. The dry weather makes it imperative that no delay should occur in placing engines at work, and a small sum would be well spent fitting up one of the empty stores on Cormorant street for the use of the Fire Department. At present the engine in the large market hall is liable to injury, and cannot be taken out at night without breaking the lock on the gates.

The stone crossings and car tracks throughout the city are responsible for several breakages of fire apparatus, and the mireing of the engine and truck at the last fire on View street caused the issuance of an order to avoid that portion of the street, between Quadra and Vancouver streets.

It is almost unnecessary to add that Victoria West, the Eastern section of the city and James Bay depend on Providence to save them from fire. One engine, six hundred feet of hose, one truck and one chemical cannot be relied on always to save the millions of dollars worth of property in this city, and should a conflagration occur I can only refer to the many vain efforts made to point out the requirements of the Fire Department. At three o'clock this afternoon the water gauge in the City Hall indicated 22 pounds pressure, which is insufficient to throw a one inch stream, direct from a hydrant into the upper window of a three story building.

The Department will drill at 7:15 o'clock on Thursday evening.

I have the honor to be, Gentlemen,
Your obedient servant,
THOMAS DEASY,
Chief of Fire Dept.

This letter was referred to the fire wardens.

Residents of Lansdowne avenue petitioned for an electric light. Referred to electric light committee.

Messrs. Bodwell & Irving wrote:

VICTORIA, B. C., June 23, 1893.

To His Worship the Mayor and Corporation of the City of Victoria, B. C.

GENTLEMEN:—Mr. Edward Mohun has consulted us with reference to a letter written by the City Clerk to him, dated the 18th day of June, 1893, which states that the City Clerk is instructed to inform Mr. Mohun that the Corporation are obliged to dispense with his services, which, in consequence, will cease from and after the 30th day of June, 1893, and directing him to make over the plans, property, &c., in his charge to the City Engineer.

We can scarcely conceive that this communication was intended to express the serious determination of the Council, as it would be a direct breach of the contract made with Mr Mohun when he was appointed Sanitary Engineer for the construction of the sewerage works.

That appointment was made in pursuance of a written communication from Mr. Mohun, dated the 19th September, 1890, in which he agreed to accept the position of Sanitary Engineer, and to carry out the proposed sewerage works at an annual salary of $3 000 in lieu of the regular commission to which he would otherwise be entitled from the Corporation.

Mr. Mohun has acted in perfect good faith upon the basis of the terms thus arranged with the Corporation. The letter of the 18th June, to which we have referred, expresses the intention on the part of the Council to directly derogate from this contract.

If this course is persisted in, Mr. Mohun will have but one remedy, and that is to bring an action against the Corporation for breach of contract, in which, no doubt, his damages against the City would be assessed at a very large amount.

We are instructed to say that unless the Council reconsider its determination as expressed in the letter of the 18th inst., we shall bring an action against the Corporation for the damages to which we have referred.

An early reply will oblige.

Yours faithfully,
BODWELL & IRVING.

ALD. BRAGG thought if Mohun was a pensioner on the city the sooner the ratepayers knew it the better. Let Mohun go to law if he wanted to, and if he had the documents he said he had, he would win. He moved, seconded by Ald. Baker, that Bodwell & Irving be informed that the Council do not wish to reconsider its action.

The motion was lost, and Ald. Baker and Bragg then left the Council chamber, the Council adjourning at 10:05 p.m. for want of a quorum.

Hundreds of people write "It is impossible to describe the good Hood's Sarsaprilla has done me." It will be of equal help to you.

THE SHORTEST AND EASIEST ROUTE
TO THE
FAMOUS LARDEAU AND FISH CREEK MINES, IS BY LARDEAU
N. E. ARM OF UPPER ARROW LAKE.

THE Columbia River steamers from the C. P. R. or N. P. R. lines will land prospectors or investors at Lardeau, where First-Class Hotels and Supply Stores are situated. Pack trains run from this point, and saddle horses can be procured. The distance from Lardeau to Trout Lake is from twelve to fourteen miles. The distance to Trout Lake over a poor trail from the nearest point on Kootenay Lake is over sixty miles. The advantage is obvious. Lardeau is also the Headquarters and Entrance point to the Fish Creek Mines. A glance at the map of Kootenay will show that the above statements are correct.

For full particulars apply to the undersigned.
